RUSSIA'S 'KING' BETWEEN TWO ACES

jammed Red Square to hear him tell about his exploit. Khrushchev awarded Titov the title "Hero of the Soviet Union," the same decoration earlier awarded Gagarin. Khrushchev jibed at U.S. space attempts. (AP Wirephoto.)

MOSCOW—Soviet spaceman Gherman Titov returned to Moscow today for a hero's welcome, kissed his well-wishers right and left and warned that if the "enemies of peace" unleash another war, the Soviet Union has the wherewithal to crush the aggressor.

MEN IN SPACE COSTLY HOBBY SAYS BRITON

LONDON (Reuters)—The United States and Russia are only indulging in an "expensive hobby" by sending men into space, a British science ministry spokesman said today.

Denzil Freeth, parliamentary secretary for science, said in a speech Britain's "modest space program" was producing far more in the way of scientific knowledge which might be of value.

Freeth said the U.S. and Russia were able to send human beings and animals into space "because the rockets they use are rockets which are basically designed for defence."

"They are sending men—and I suppose ladies too in time into space as a by-product and are able to use a lot of defence work for space work."

"This is very expensive in skilled manpower and resources and excessively expensive in money," he said. "This is a most expensive hobby in which to indulge."

New Western Proposals

PARIS (AP)—The Western allies are planning to advance a proposal within the next few weeks for a meeting with the Soviet Union on Berlin and Germany—if the Russians fail to propose one first.

Highly placed Western informants gave an outline today of diplomatic manoeuvres on the Berlin crisis.

The timing of a call for negotiations on Berlin is a delicate matter involving tactical advantages.

PAPER LANTERNS FLOAT REQUIEM FOR NAGASAKI

NAGASAKI, Japan (AP)—Hundreds of small candle-lit paper lanterns for the dead were cast adrift on Nagasaki Bay tonight, marking the 16th anniversary of the atomic bombing of Nagasaki.

Earlier, sirens and bells sounded throughout the city as hundreds of thousands joined in a minute of silent prayer at 11:02 a.m., the time the bomb was dropped Aug. 9, 1945.

A peace declaration was read by Mayor Tsutomu Tagawa during observances sponsored by the city and various religious organizations. A hundred white pigeons were released.

The declaration, which will be sent to the 99 nations of the United Nations, told of the suffering undergone by Nagasaki in the last 16 years and called for the outlawing of all nuclear weapons.

Bank Reverses $25,000 Pension

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of the government, Mr. Fleming said, had now had to consider what new rule should apply to the governor's pension, he added.

One of the government's criticisms of Mr. Coyne was that he did not veto a board decision in February, 1961, to raise the governor's retirement pension to $25,000 a year from about $12,000.

Suspension of the rule in the bank's retirement bylaws means that the governor's pension rate reverts to that in effect prior to February, 1960—or $12,000 a year.

Mr. Fleming told reporters after a cabinet meeting he did not know whether Mr. Coyne has applied for the pension at the $25,000 rate or whether he is currently drawing any money from the bank.

Mr. Coyne's claim to the higher pension rate will be a matter of legal interpretation, Mr. Fleming added.

"That will have to be worked out," he said.

A reporter recalled that the bank's directors, when they raised the pension rate to $25,000, said the step would protect the integrity of the governor's position, whoever held the office.

"That was an interesting theory," Mr. Fleming said.

"I am informed that steps were taken so that there would be no application of that rule to any future governor, and provisions for the future is something for future consideration."

The government learned about it, the higher pension, only this spring, and received the word with shock and consternation.

"The board's action in suspending the rule is in keeping with my view that its former action was an improper course."

Suspension of the rule, Mr. Fleming said, meant that Mr. Rasminsky acquired "no right whatsoever" to the higher pension rate when he took office. The rule was suspended with Mr. Rasminsky's knowledge before he took the job.

Four guards were with the 18 men but the two escapees managed to slip away from them and mingle with the crowd of more than 3,000.

Vancouver city police and Burnaby RCMP ringed the stadium after the pair were missed but found no trace of them. The search continued today.

The two escapees are Edward George Williams, 21, and Henry John Gonia, 26.

Williams was serving an 18-month term for breaking and entering and theft. He was due to be released in December, 1962.

Gonia was serving 23 months for breaking and entering and was to be released in June, 1963.

HITCHHIKER

TOOK WHEEL, KILLED FOUR

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—A survivor of a car plunge which took four lives said Tuesday a hitchhiker grabbed the steering wheel and headed the car into the Skeena River.

The hitchhiker wrenched at the wheel and said: "Well, I guess we might as well all die," driver Ivan Lawson, 21, told Terrace RCMP.

Lawson and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Green all of Hazelton, B.C., swam to safety after the car landed upside down in 10 feet of water early Tuesday.

Missing and presumed dead are Mary Gunanoot, 33, Loretta Smith, 16, and Leon Bordeleau, all of Terrace, and the unidentified hitchhiker.

BCE TAKEOVER

Dealers Fanning Protest

By TOM GOULD
(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA—Investment dealers across Canada are advising clients who hold B.C. Electric stock to write Premier Bennett to protest the terms of his takeover of the huge utility.

A more formal protest is expected to be made by the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

Eastern investors were shocked at the terms of the takeover. Dealers say they are being flooded with calls from worried BCE and B.C. Power Corporation shareholders.

Some advocated legal action to win a better deal for the shareholders but the terms of the takeover legislation prohibit such legal action unless a fiat can be obtained from the B.C. attorney-general's office.

There has been favorable reaction in Toronto and Montreal financial circles to a letter circulated by the Investment Dealers' Association describing the takeover terms as "arbitrary, unfair, and inconsistent with the Canadian tradition of equity and legal recourse."

Deane Nesbitt, president of Nesbitt Thompson Co., joint underwriters with Wood, Gundy and Co. for B.C. Electric and B.C. Power Corp. (the parent firm) said there is no doubt of the province's right to take over the power utility.

'GROSSLY UNFAIR'
But, he said, "we believe the terms are grossly unfair to the shareholders, and that the procedure is completely at odds with the practice of earlier takeovers."

Mr. Nesbitt said the provincial government should treat shareholders fairly, and permit them the right to appeal the province's terms.

Investors have already lost millions of dollars on B.C. Electric holdings, as a result of the drop in market values of preferred shares.

Premier Bennett intends exchanging fixed interest rate debentures for the preferred shares. This means holders of the preferred shares will lose a federal tax credit of 20 per cent on dividend payments.

DEPRIVED

Peter Scott, chairman of Wood, Gundy, said the government "may have intended to make an equitable exchange of fixed interest debentures for preferred shares, but in practice, they have deprived preferred shareholders of a tax credit for which they paid on the purchase of the shares."

Most of the concern in the financial world is for the holders of preferred shares. "There is always a risk with common stock, and the man who buys

Sellout by Weekend Sure For BCE's Parity Bonds

Premier Bennett's $100,000,000 B.C. Electric parity bond issue went on sale across Canada today and is expected to be sold out before the weekend.

Several Vancouver investment houses reported that they went "over the top" in their allocations before actual sale started and Victoria houses indicated their allocations were being snapped up.

Victoria managers of investment houses reported "a very good" response to the bond issue, although slightly slower than in Vancouver and eastern Canada—where the province's last and biggest parity bond issue went on sale for the first time.

"We have a few bonds left but not many and I don't think they'll last long," said a Wood Gundy and Co. representative here.

SEN. W. PROXMIRE
... 32 hours of it.

Talk, Talk, Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator William Proxmire (Dem., Wis.), ended at 12:05 p.m. EDT (9:05 a.m. PDT) today a marathon protest in the Senate against the nomination of Lawrence J. O'Connor Jr. to the federal power commission.

At the time, the senator had held the floor for 32 hours and 45 minutes since he began speaking Monday. He had several breaks, however, when other senators spoke.

Proxmire told the Senate over and over again that he does not believe O'Connor is qualified for the appointment because of close association with and financial holdings in the gas industry.

Senator Wayne Morse (Dem., Ore.) allied himself earlier with Proxmire in opposition to confirmation of O'Connor. Morse, in a speech that gave Proxmire a brief rest, said the Senate would not get around today to a vote on the nomination.

LONELY FIGURE

Through the long night Proxmire was a lonely figure in the virtually-empty chamber as he droned on from his back-row desk with arguments against O'Connor's confirmation.

The 46-year-old senator had started his speech Monday morning but had yielded from time to time to colleagues for talks on other subjects. He had even been able to slip out to eat and relax briefly.

Proxmire denied he was fidgeting. He said he was only explaining the issues fully and sticking to the subject.

The stenographic force which keeps a verbatim record of Senate debates called in reinforcements. John Rhodes, one of the officials of the staff, said his men were "worn out."

Lands Safely In Cuba

NEW YORK (UPI)—A huge Pan-American DC-8 jet airliner with 81 persons aboard was hijacked in the skies over Mexico today and forced to fly to Havana, Cuba, where it landed safely, the airline reported.

The DC-8 with 72 passengers and nine crew members aboard put down safely at the Havana Airport at 3:25 p.m., EDT (12:25 p.m., PDT).

The airline said everyone aboard was safe.

In Washington the White House said President Kennedy had asked for fullest information on the hijacking.

The White House said its preliminary information was that one man had forced the Pan-Am pilot to divert his craft to Cuba shortly after taking off from Mexico City en route to Guatemala City.

FROM TEXAS

The plane had originated in Houston, Texas, and had flown to Mexico City this morning.

At 12:37 p.m., EDT, it took off again and within minutes the hijacker apparently seized control of the aircraft.

The pilot, Capt. Carl Ballard, radioed in code that the craft had been "diverted" to Cuba.

Two hours and 45 minutes later the DC-8 jet put down on the 10,600-foot runway in Fidel Castro's capital.

Among passengers aboard the hijacked airliner were Colombian Foreign Minister Julio Cesar Turbay and Roger Wolin, Pan American public relations director for Latin America. The nine-member crew also included four stewards.

In Washington, the United States Air Force high command was placed on the alert.

The hijacking followed by only six days the seizure of a Continental Airlines Boeing 707 jet on the ground at El Paso, Tex., by ex-convict Leon Bearden and his son, Cody. Border patrol and FBI men overpowered the gunman after they had held the crew and four hostages for more than nine hours.

Fraser Advances Into Semifinals

OTTAWA (CP)—Victoria's John Fraser moved into the semifinals of the Canadian junior men's singles tennis championship today by posting two easy victories. He defeated New Yorker Claude Schoenbank, 6-2, 6-0, after earlier defeating Jean Lavender of Montreal, 6-1, 6-1. (See earlier story page 11.)

Showers Won't Help

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Showers forecast for today were expected to have little effect on forest fires that have ravaged northeastern Newfoundland for two months.

"I'm sure we won't have any left by the weekend," said a Dominion Securities Corporation spokesman.

"The local response has been reasonably good," said a Victoria official of A. E. Ames and Co. Ltd.

Bonds that are not picked up quickly here probably will be transferred to the Vancouver branches of the big investment firms where allocations already have been oversold.

Extremely strong demand also has been reported in Eastern Canada.

Meanwhile, Ottawa income tax authorities added lustre to the picture by reportedly indicating that the province probably will be able to gain a $44,000,000 nest-egg originally reserved by the company for future income tax payments.

That's the amount believed tucked away by the company as a reserve against the day some of the work," he said.

People and Things

GENOA, Italy—A German shepherd dog, in the tradition of faithfulness, has returned to his master by hiking the 300-mile width of mountainous northern Italy.

The dog, Tarzan, was given to a sailor a few months ago by Gianni Terret. Sailor and dog rode a tanker around the Italian coast and up the Adriatic coast to Trieste.

Tarzan disappeared soon after the tanker put in at Trieste 50 days ago.

Terret was walking by a pool he often visits in Genoa, when Tarzan rushed up to him, barking joyously.

The six-year-old animal had lost a lot of weight and was speckled with mud. His paws were raw and bleeding. Terret took him to a veterinarian for treatment and vowed never to give the dog away again.

JACKSONVILLE—A woman who says she's 107 years old admits she's a bubble gum addict.

On her birthday Tuesday, Mrs. Judy Petty said, "I chew about 100 pieces a month." A year ago bubble gum took her last tooth but she won't swear off.

In fine health, Mrs. Petty says she has visited a doctor only once.

BUFFALO, N.Y. — Mrs. Patricia Devaney told the judge she didn't have her driver's licence because she accidentally dropped it in a boiling pot of ham and cabbage.

The housewife, appearing in city court Tuesday on charges of speeding and driving without a licence, said the licence apparently dissolved in the pot.

The judge sighed, dismissed the licence charge, and fined her $15 for speeding.

MIAMI, Fla.—Ray Moore's suburban pool has everything for the well-being of its exotic goldfish except a "no fishing" sign.

Moore said Tuesday he didn't realize one was needed —until he surprised a 14-year-old boy sipping up the pool. "I came here to fish," the lad explained. "My friends said they got 20 nice ones from your pool."

ATHENS—An Illinois restaurant owner said Tuesday he believes he has found an arm from the world's most famous armless statue, Venus de Milo.

It is highly probable that the marble object is one of the arms of Venus de Milo," Mathom Kyritsis said, from the Island of Milos.

Kyritsis added, however, that the Milos museum curator who examined the object is not an authority and more intensive scrutiny is necessary.

The piece of marble was hauled up Monday from Milos harbor. Under it are the remains of an ancient city estimated to date from the 15th century B.C.

Kyritsis, of Waukegan, Ill., arrived in Greece in June with the hope of finding Venus' arms. A fisherman had told Kyritsis, during his childhood days on Milos, that Venus lost her arms in the harbor during transfer to a French vessel from a rowboat.

In antiquity, Venus was the goddess of love. The famous early Greek reproduction of her was found in 1820 on Milos and taken to Constantinople by a French ambassador. Eventually it was presented by Louis XVIII to the Louvre in Paris, where it now stands.

Babies Born Together Not Twins

CLEVELAND (AP) —

Michelle Lynn Shaffer is two minutes older than her brother Michael Lee Shaffer. Yet they are not twins.

How come?

Mrs. Rhaymagene Shaffer, their 23-year-old mother, gave birth to the pair Saturday at Women's Hospital. A staff doctor described it as a "rare and interesting situation."

The babies were conceived at different times. They are not from the same egg. The case is unusual because ordinarily, after a woman conceives, she stops ovulating.

X-RAYS CONFIRM

Hospital officials said x-rays of the bone structure have confirmed suspicions that Michael Lee, who weighed in at six pounds, 11 ounces, was a full-term, nine-month infant, but his "older" sister was an eight-month baby.

Michele weighed four pounds, three ounces, and is being kept in an incubator.

EAST GERMAN premier Otto Grotewohl is dying of leukemia, according to "Information Bureau West," an anti-Communist organization in Berlin. TOO LOW

Even so, there are wide-spread complaints that the price offered for common shares of B.C. Power, $38 a share, is too low. Dealers say the province's own Public Utilities Commission little more than a year ago authorized an issue of B.C. Power treasury shares at a price of $45 a share.

Arthur J. Milner, head of the Investment Dealers' Association, said that "in the interests of justice, provisions should be made for arbitration and independent appraisal of expropriated assets."

RESTORE CONFIDENCE

"If the B.C. government were to provide the machinery for arbitration as we suggest, it would greatly help to restore the shaken confidence of Canadian and foreign investors in the integrity of the government, and in the conditions for investment in private industry in B.C."

Mr. Milner said that a precedent exists for such arbitration in the case of the B.C. takeover years ago of West Canadian Hydro-Electric Power Corp. In that case, Mr. Justice Wilson of the Supreme Court of B.C. based value to investors on three considerations: Future earning prospects of the company, original cost and replacement cost of physical structures and lands, and prices paid for similar utilities in recent years.

DEALERS' Copters Snatch Men From Inferno

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Firefighting bombers and helicopters teamed up Tuesday for a spectacular rescue of a crew of firemen trapped by an explosive forest fire in Clearwater forest.

Three men suffered minor injuries before the rescue was completed. Another died of a heart attack while fighting another of six fires that blazed up over vast areas of Idaho and Montana.

The forest service reported the Horse Shoe Lake fire in the Clearwater forest, now covering more than 1,350 acres, literally blew up Tuesday during strong afternoon winds, sweeping out of extensive fire lines in which fighters hoped to control the blaze.

As the big blaze jumped past fire lines, it encircled a crew of firefighters. Bombers circled the men, bombing surrounding trees with borate to cool the fire while helicopters snatched the men from the area.

A fire in the Bitterroot forest on the Idaho-Montana border roared uncontrolled and now has covered an estimated 14,000 acres.

A Spokane, Wash., man, John Roberts, 56, died of a heart attack, while fighting this blaze.

LIVING COSTS EMPTY JAILS

ROME (AP) — Scores of prisoners walked out of jail Tuesday because of Italy's rising cost of living.

Heretofore prisoners who could not pay fines had to serve them out in jail at a rate of 400 lire (64 cents) a day. Effective Tuesday such prison time is counted off at a rate of 5,000 lire ($5) a day.

"Everything costs more these days," an official explained. "Time is a lot more valuable than it used to be."

B.C. ELECTRIC PARITY BONDS—UNCONDITIONALLY GUARANTEED

Fast Action Asked By Latin Americans

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
PUNTA del ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—Five major Latin American nations called on the United States and other foreign aid sources to funnel $20,000,000,000 over the next 10 years into President Kennedy's alliance for progress program. They urged the continent's governments to get their long-range development programs ready in the next 18 months.

The $20,000,000,000 resolution was introduced after a night session of the inter-American economic and social conference at which Cuban Industries Minister Ernesto (Che) Guevara accused the United States of plotting to assassinate Fidel Castro's brother, Raul.

When Guevara finished speaking, several Cuban exiles in the audience screamed "assassin" and two leaped on the stage shouting. Flats swung as security guards hauled the demonstrators from the packed chamber, but order was restored in a few moments.

RESOLUTION DIFFERS

The $20,000,000,000 resolution was submitted by Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Mexico and Peru. It differed from U.S. proposal for a powerful committee of "seven wise men" to co-ordinate economic planning for Latin America. The five nations made clear they intend to plan their own economic programs and substituted a proposal for an inter-American planning staff with advisory powers only.

The five also junked the disputed American scheme for an elaborate information and cultural campaign to publicize the economic and social reforms that are the aims of Kennedy's program.

The United States already has promised to contribute more than $1,000,000,000 a year to get the program going. U.S. Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon mentioned Japan and nations in Western Europe as potential sources to make up the balance.

Delegates turned to closed-door sessions today to try to get the gigantic aid program off the ground. They will study the five-nation resolution and other proposals and will draft a final declaration to be signed before the conference closes Aug. 16.

Guevara, his open-necked khaki uniform shirt in sharp contrast with the conservative garb of the other delegates, heaped scorn on the alliance for progress program.

He said the Kennedy plan would never have been conceived if it had not been for the Cuban revolution. "A little push," he said, and the United States would ante up the $30,000,000,000 in aid Castro called for two years ago.

He denounced the conference as a political manoeuvre against Cuba and against "the example Cuba is setting for all Latin America."

$5 MILLION HOLOCAUST RAVAGES TURKISH TOWN

ISTANBUL (AP)—Fire raced through Shebin-karhisar, in northeastern Turkey Tuesday, destroying 400 shops, four large hotels, four bakeries, 20 houses, a post office and police headquarters. No loss of life was reported. Damage was estimated at $5,000,000.

'A Lust to Kill' Laid to Eichmann

JERUSALEM (AP)—Adolf Eichmann's "true form and image" as a man with a lust to kill Jews is clear beyond doubt from testimony in his 16-week trial. Israel Attorney General Gideon Hausner declared today.

Hausner, continuing his summation of the prosecution's case against the chief of the Gestapo's Jewish affairs section, charged Eichmann even appealed against orders from Hitler's headquarters to let up in the relentless slaughter toward the end of the Second World War.

"The lust to send Jews to their deaths, even though he was not ordered to do so at the time, offers us a picture of the true Eichmann," Hausner said.

Hausner mentioned that Hitler had been prepared to make a deal allowing 8,750 Jewish families to emigrate to Palestine if all Jews in Budapest were handed over to the Germans.

But, Hausner said, Eichmann had argued that there were "elements of biological value" among the families earmarked for emigration and intervened with Heinrich Himmler to prevent their release.

WORSE THAN HITLER

This showed that Eichmann's attitude was "more extreme than that of the evil Fuehrer himself," Hausner said.

The three judges trying Eichmann as a criminal accomplice in the Nazi massacre of an estimated 6,000,000 Jews listened gravely as the prosecutor slashed at Eichmann's plea that he was only a minor official in the SS apparatus.

Hausner, nearing the end of the summation of the prosecution case, declared Eichmann organized completely the "model" concentration camp at Theresienstadt, Poland, which later became a staging centre for Jews shipped from all over Europe to the gas chambers at Auschwitz.

"Eichmann dealt with the selection of Jews at Theresienstadt for Auschwitz," Hausner said. "Eichmann was known to all the inmates of that camp. We have heard one witness here who saw Eichmann actually take part in a selection at the camp."

Hausner laid stress on evidence showing that the Nazi Institute for Anatomical Research at Strasbourg applied several times to Eichmann personally for skulls and skeletons of Jewish death camp victims for study.

"If his office had no connection with Auschwitz, why was the supply of gas and skulls referred to Eichmann?"

8-Month Term For Shooting

A jail term of eight months was imposed on Edward Darrell Miller, 645 Dundas, in Sanich police court Tuesday for shooting with intent to wound.

Miller pleaded guilty to the charge Aug. 1 but was remanded a week for probation and psychiatric reports.

He was charged with firing a rifle at Reginald Raymond Scheske, 333 Ker, in the early morning of July 30. Two bullets hit a door jamb sending splinters into Scheske's hand and stomach.

BRITISH GUIANA ALERT AS REDS THREATEN VOTE

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—A bitter election campaign, with Communist influence an issue, has security police in this British colony on the alert for possible violence. Leaders of three rival parties express doubt that there will be trouble before or after the election of a legislative assembly Aug. 21, but police authorities indicate they are ready, just in case.

Among many unconfirmed rumors circulating is one that a member of Cheddi Jagan's far-left People's Progressive party went to Cuba to negotiate a deal for arms with Premier Fidel Castro.

British authorities indicate they will act only if there is bloodshed and rioting on a big scale. They make it plain they want to avoid a repetition of their previous attempt to check Jagan's power in 1953.

CHARGED SUBVERSION

In that year the PPP won 18 of 24 seats in the legislative council and formed a government. Authorities then suspended the constitution and relieved the ministers of their portfolios, with a shipload of British troops standing by, charging that the ministers were subverting the state, inciting the workers to strike and vilifying the governor, Sir Alfred Savage.

CHEDDI JAGAN
... wooing Castro.

Four years later Jagan and his PPP won again, this time nine out of 14 seats in a reduced legislature. Jagan, who became minister of trade and industry, showed a more moderate tendency, however.

Now he is out to head the government again, as premier under a new constitution. For that his party needs a majority of the 35 seats in the new legislature assembly.

HOPES FOR ORDER

The present governor, Sir Ralph Gray, has let it be known he hopes for an orderly election with establishment of a democratic government that will work in a responsible way toward independence within the Commonwealth.

Jagan's two opponents, Peter D'Agular, a successful businessman, and Forbes Burnham, a lawyer who split with Jagan in 1953, called him pro-Communist. Jagan, an avowed admirer of Castro, calls himself a socialist with a policy of "active neutrality" in the global cold war. Many expect Jagan and his PPP to win again, with the support of the East Indians who make up 49 per cent of the population.

Both opposition leaders say they hope to keep Jagan from getting a working majority.

D'Agular's anti-Communist United Force is considered better organized than Burnham's, but not a likely winner if the voting is along racial lines. D'Agular is of Portuguese parentage.

Burnham, who looks mainly to the Negro vote for his People's National Congress, says it is about equal to the East Indian vote.

EXCESS BANK DEPOSITS SEIZED

Wealthy Cubans Lose in Switch

By JOSE MARIA ORLANDO

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro announced Tuesday night the Cuban government will return a maximum of only 10,000 pesos a person to those who deposited large amounts during the government-ordered exchange Sunday and Monday.

Any deposits above that sum will be taken over by the government since they had been hoarded in violation of the anti-hoarding law, the premier said. He added that "no one would be prosecuted, however."

Castro said an estimated 3,000 persons deposited more than 10,000 pesos each. But it was believed many Cubans who had piled up large amounts of cash did not declare it because they feared legal action.

An exception was made for "old persons and cripples," who Castro said would be given credit for deposits to a maximum of 20,000 pesos.

Castro made the announcement in a television speech in which he accused the United States of smuggling huge amounts of the old Cuban currency into the country's black market to unsettle the value of the Cuban peso and finance anti-Castro activities.

While officially valued by the Castro government at $1, the Cuban peso is actually worth only 20 to 30 cents on the free money market outside the country.

Almost Every Prospect Pleases

A COLLEAGUE of mine who spent July camping in various parks on Vancouver Island has been telling me of the tremendous mental struggle a man can encounter on such a vacation.

"You're lying in the hot sun on a smooth slope of rock a few feet away from a cool, deep pool, light green and transparent. In the drowsy contentment of it all, you know it is time to go for another swim. The question is, should you just roll over into the pool, or should you get up, put on your shoes, shirt and slacks and drive down to the sea for a salt-water plunge?"

"I tell you," he said, "it's a difficult decision to make, lying there in the perfection of a July day. You finally make the wrenching choice, roll over and have your swim there, and then climb back on to the smooth, warm rock to snooze, to wake and to wrestle with the problem all over again. Don't remember any other problems," he added, "except, of course, the high cost of young appetites when you take the kids camping and cook for them."

Just to refresh my memory on the beauties of our parks, I took a day run up to some of them last week—Englishman's River, Little Qualicum Falls, Cameron Lake and Cathedral Grove. They haven't lost anything—and Little Qualicum's still my favorite.

There are one or two developments which displease me. Too many people are using pink Kleenex for handkerchief purposes on the trails. They blow hard, as we used to say to the youngsters, and then toss the tissue aside. Pink doesn't seem to blend properly with the surrounding foliage. It would be better, if they have to use disposable material, to insist on yellow. Yellow looks so pretty among the green—much better, in fact, than the common white, which only turns grey and adds nothing to the visual appeal.

Also, the almost immaculate men's restroom at Little Qualicum still carries the proud name of J. Schaefer, Saskatchewan, inscribed above one of the urinals. Several coats of paint have failed to obliterate it entirely. Schaefer has left his mark, an imposing record where almost everyone else has respected the neatness of the public convenience. He may never make a name for himself in any other field, but it's there, like Kilroy, on a toilet wall. There are many ways of proclaiming greatness.

Generally, the public is keeping its parks neat and tidy. Around some of the picnic tables there is the odd piece of watermelon rind. Off some of the trails there are scraps of candy wrappers and an occasional empty cigarette package. By and large, though, the park visitors show appreciation for the hospitality they are offered in these places and don't abuse it.

It's pretty important that they display this consideration for others. Nobody wants to go into a once-beautiful region and find it all messed up by the thoughtlessness of some who were there before. And more and more people are going to depend on the parks for the outdoor recreation they need to offset the tensions of city living. They can keep what they have, or they can destroy it. So far the trend seems almost completely favorable.

Despite the J. Schaefer, the parks branch seems to have proved the case it sought to make years ago. The boys took the position that if they provided particularly good facilities for the public, the very excellence of the standards set in the parks would encourage people to keep them in good shape. If a cursory, one-day visit to some of them is long enough to form an opinion, I'd say the theory is justified.

One other point impressed me. Some of the trails high above river gorges can be dangerous. Anyone foolhardy enough to teeter on the outside shoulders of some could slip to disaster. No matter what protective measures were taken, they could not be made foolproof. Perhaps they shouldn't be.

Parks development, in essence, merely makes it easier for more less competent people to see and enjoy what only first class woodsmen could reach in the original wild state. There always have been natural dangers in getting to some of the less accessible places. It might be just as well to remind the parks visitors of that point. Over-protection would not call for the growth in them of judgment and self-reliance.

Northwest A-Power Again Turned Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Tuesday reaffirmed its opposition to atomic-generated power in the Pacific Northwest.

It voted 235-164 to instruct its delegation to a Senate-House conference to stand by the House's earlier refusal to authorize $95,000,000 to add electric generating facilities to a new plutonium reactor now under construction at Hanford, Wash.

The Hanford item, backed by the administration and opposed by private power interests and representatives from coal industry regions, is the

'Irritations Negotiable' But Not Berlin's Freedom

By FORBES RHUDE
GENEVA PARK, Ont. (CP)—Dr. Henry A. Kissinger of Harvard University said Tuesday night the West cannot negotiate about the freedom of Berlin.

Addressing the conference of the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs here, he said, "we should negotiate in order to remove irritations, but if the Soviet Union thinks the freedom of Berlin is an irritant, then the negotiations won't get very far."

Dr. Kissinger, faculty member of Harvard's centre for international affairs, director of Harvard's defence studies program, a former consultant to various defence bodies, and author of several books on foreign affairs, outlined a number of shifts of emphasis in United States policy.

One goal is to assure civilian control of U.S. military forces before and during hostilities. Another is, "for the free world to increase its conventional forces to defer as long as possible the necessity for use of nuclear weapons."

General Sir Geoffrey Bourne, former commandant of the British Imperial Defence College and former general officer commanding the British sector of Berlin, described Communist methods as "nibble-nibble-nibble."

Gen. Bourne, remarking on Dr. Kissinger's address, expressed broad agreement with the latter's interpretation of the desirable course for U.S. and Western attempts to preserve peace, but to be ready for war if pushed into it. In reply to a question Dr. Kissinger said that soon neither side will be able to improve its position by attacking first because both will be strong enough that there would be enough retaliatory force left to carry out a counter-attack.

Gen. Bourne thought "the atomic striking power of NATO was best left with the U.S. where he believed it would be used wisely."

POWER LIMITED
He would not, however, eliminate Britain's nuclear striking power which, while limited, has the power to inflict damage.

Dr. Kissinger suggested steps which would give NATO countries a sense of unity. These might include certain arrangements which now exist with Canada, such as the elimination of passports.

Dr. Kissinger and Gen. Bourne discussed the steps by which a small war with conventional weapons might develop first into a nuclear war on a limited scale and perhaps later into a bigger one.

The first objective would be to have sufficient conventional forces available to meet a conventional attack anywhere.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

So Now I'm Buying British

LONDON—My wife said: "I'm going to have to take a trip back to Canada for a refresher course. I'm getting far too English in my ways."

Peanut butter prompted this remark.

What has happened was that she had come to me and announced excitedly that Canadian peanut butter was now on the market and she was going to get a jar. "Remember how wonderful it was in Canada?" she said. "It'll be a treat after having to put up with this English stuff."

She got a jar and couldn't wait to help herself to a lavish sample. Then she gave me a further bulletin on the peanut butter situation.

"I don't like it," she said. "English peanut butter is much better."

This I found hard to believe. I decided to test it myself.

It was a familiar jar, not only Canadian Peanut Butter but HOMOGENIZED—a word they don't throw around in this country.

I put a good lashing of it on some bread and, by golly, my wife was right. There just didn't seem to be any taste to it. I tried it neat, with the same result.

I got out the old English peanut butter and tasted that. What a difference! No comparison! The English version had both the full-bodied odor and flavor of peanuts, which I should think, after all, is the object of the operation in peanut butter.

This is all very disillusioning. Sad to say, it's not the first time it's happened.

We've had mouth-watering memories of a brand of Canadian chocolates and have poised it abroad in this area that they are the best in the world. But after receipt of several boxes from Canadian friends we cannot honestly say that they are better than what can be got here. In fact there's one English brand of chocolates that knocks spots off them.

Likewise ice cream. When Canadian ice cream came on the market here we rushed to put some of it before our youngsters—only for them to leave it unfinished with the comment: "Too rich and sickly."

It's wisest, I guess, to carry around dreams of how superfine everything is back home rather than put it to the test.

Hydrangeas Have Huge Thirst

The effect of dry summers is noticeable more readily with some plants than with others.

Those which show lack of water by the immediate reversion of wilting are really the lucky ones. Their plight is so obvious that we hurry to do something about it.

The most obviously thirsty plants these days are the hydrangeas with the round heads of pink or blue flowers.

I have seen many of these with browned-off flowers and burned, wilted leaves. Some have been in front borders where lawn sprinklers haven't reached them, but many have been in large new plantings belonging to expensive-looking motor hotels.

The latter plantings are usually bordered by cement retaining walls and, or, black-top driveways neither of which are conducive to holding moisture in a hot, dry summer.

LOTS OF WATER

All hydrangeas require large amounts of water. The tree hydrangeas, with cone-shaped heads of creamy blossoms in late summer the oak-leaved hydrangeas with greenish-white cones of bloom, and the climbing hydrangeas do not show their need for water so soon, but to maintain healthy growth a moist soil is necessary for them also.

Conifers, and broad-leaf evergreens such as rhododendrons, camellias and viburnums often do not show their lack of summer moisture until the following spring, when usually it is too late to repair the damage.

Sprinkling the surface soil has no lasting benefit, in fact, it draws roots upwards where they suffer more from heat and drought.

The plants mentioned here need a thorough soaking of the entire root area, possibly once a week or maybe twice a week, depending on the type of soil and its ability to hold the moisture it receives.

B.C. Iron Ore Development Quickens

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Ever-increasing Japanese steel production goals continue to focus the B.C. mining spotlight on iron ore and two companies have indicated plans this week which should result in heavy shipments of ore to Japan and, of course, economic benefits to B.C.

Nimphish Iron Mines Ltd., jointly owned by Standard International Mines, Canadian subsidiary of Standard Steel Co. of Youngstown, Ohio, and International Iron Mines of Vancouver, has started construction of a giant conveyor system six miles from the mine property to tidewater at Zeballos.

Nimphish has reserves of better than 1.5 million tons which is being open pit mined. At present the ore is concentrated and shipped 26 miles to the docks.

Jedway Iron Mines Ltd. has completed financing to bring its property into production and with all shares issued Jedway is now owned 75 per cent by The Granby Mining Co. and 25 per cent by a New York syndicate.

Total financing amounts to over $5.5 million.

Granby has advanced $2 million, the New York group $1.5 million and the remaining $2 million came from the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce which holds a single bearer demand debenture of 5 per cent in that amount.

The New York group, represented by Dominick and Dominick, was issued 30,000 shares at 33 1/2 cents and $1.5 million in 6 per cent second mortgage bonds.

from the $282,363 of the previous year.

S. J. Vogan, president, reported "modest" decreases in sales which had an effect on the profit picture, but also noted that the previous year's profit was heightened by a favorable tax situation.

Competition in the industry continues to be intense, Mr. Vogan said.

Consideration will be given to the listing on the Vancouver exchange of Growers Wine Ltd. "B" shares at the next meeting of the board of directors, according to E. C. Warner, managing director.

Listing of Growers shares at Toronto will also be discussed.

Mr. Warner says there has been a growing market this year for the company's products in both the Maritime provinces and in Britain.

There's a report that Giant Mascot is to acquire 50 per cent of Kamloops Copper options and have first refusal on production financing.

The prospectus on the $10 a share Vendomatic Services offering shows a price-earnings ratio of close to 100:1.

Impact of Devaluation On Economy Unclear

By DON HANBRIGHT
OTTAWA (CP)—It appears even to the most cautious observers here that the sub-par Canadian dollar has given the economy a welcome lift.

Uncertainty remains, however, on the degree of the impact and what part the devaluation policy announced in the June 20 federal budget has played in developments. Statistics have not caught up to the change.

Business prospects have brightened but the consensus is that it would be rash to give all the credit to the exchange market informants said Tuesday. The upturn in United States conditions certainly has spilled into Canada.

It also is unclear where the dollar will settle. The government has said only that it seeks a "significant discount" in relation to changing economic winds.

FLUCTUATIONS NARROW

In recent weeks the fluctuations that followed Finance Minister Fleming's budget have narrowed considerably.

The Canadian dollar, at a premium of four to five per cent during part of 1960, was down to a one-cent premium on the day before the budget—reflecting a drop that began the previous Dec. 20 when the government announced plans to curb capital inflow.

The next day it was at a discount in terms of the American dollar of 97.15 cents and on June 22 moved slightly over 97.25 and has not been above that level since.

The low point came July 6 at just over 96 cents—lowest since Nov. 27, 1951.

It climbed to 97.25 cents at July 18 and since then has moved in a narrow range between that figure and 96.45 cents.

One concrete result has been an increase in income for Canadian gold mines. With the gold price fixed by the U.S. at $35 an ounce, the Royal Canadian Mint had been paying $34.76 an ounce in Canadian dollars at June 16 but now has increased this to $36.09.

This may lengthen the life of mines still operating. But informants say it is not enough to encourage more prospecting and new mine developments. Such a reverse would require a price increase of $10 to $12, they say.

It is believed that the discount came too late to have any significant impact on American tourist spending in Canada—this country's third biggest money-earner behind forest products and wheat. But the effect probably will be felt in a full season.

Department Store Sales Show Boost

OTTAWA (CP)—Department store sales for the week ended July 29 were 9.7 per cent higher than the corresponding period last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Ottawa showed the highest increase—17.8 per cent—compared with 10.6 per cent in the Atlantic provinces, 7.5 per cent in Quebec, 8.9 per cent in Alberta and 6.5 in British Columbia. Sales declined 2.4 per cent in Manitoba and 4.6 per cent in Saskatchewan.

May Wages Down

OTTAWA (CP)—Average weekly wages in May fell to $74.38 from $74.56 in April, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

American stock exchange prices turned mixed, losing an upside edge. Canadian Marconi and Shawinigan were up 1/2 apiece. Brazilian Tractron was up 1/2.

AT MONTREAL stocks were lower in moderate trading.

Among the papers, International Paper gained 1/2 at 35.

AT NEW YORK—Among Canadian issues, losers were International Nickel 1/2, Canadian Mining 1/2 and Walker Gooderham 1/2. Aluminum gained 1/2. Dome Mines 1/2 and McIntyre Porcupine 1/2.

WHEW!...I'M GETTING TOO OLD FOR THAT, CLIFF...IT'S GOOD YOU'RE TAKING OVER, I GUESS...THE KIDS NEED A YOUNGER MAN!

ANOTHER SLANT

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI).—There comes to hand today a rather amazing commentary on the baseball times.

Maybe it's piracy, or plagiarism, or something equally exciting. But a fellow member of the typewriter brigade made these observations about baseball and the home run situation 40 years ago.

The gentleman was the noted Ring Lardner and he wrote:

"I got a letter the other day asking why I didn't write about baseball no more as I usen't to write about nothing else, you might say. Well, friends, I may as well admit that I have kind of lost interest in the old game."

"A couple years ago a ball player named Baby Ruth that was a pitcher by birth was made into an outfielder on account of how he could bust them and he begins breaking records for long-distance hits and he becomes a big drawing card and the masterminds that controls baseball says to themselves that if it is home runs that the public wants to see, why leave us give them home runs, so they fixed up a ball that if you don't miss it entirely it will clear the fence, and the result is that ball players which use to specialize in humpback liners to the pitcher is now amongst our leading sluggers when by rights they couldn't take the ball in their hands and knock it past the base umpire."

That was written, I'd like to point out, in 1921. And it makes you wonder whether they might not have to put poor old Ring in a straitjacket if he was around the big league ball-busting precincts these days.

Consider first that in 1921, the era of Lardner's disgust, while Babe Ruth was in the process of swatting 59 home runs to pace the American League, nobody else was exactly tearing down the fences in the current manner. To substantiate this point, George Kelly of the Giants led the National League that year with 23. That would get him benched today as being in a slump.

Back there in 1921, the American League put together an over-all total of 477 homers. The National League total was 460.

Which means that in the major leagues in 1921 there were a grand total of 937 home runs.

With the 1961 season a little more than half over, the American League alone already has hit 1,058 home runs this season as of the last official averages.

Okay, so they've got two extra teams. Take them away and you have 531 home runs by the old-time eight teams. Add to that the fact that the National League at this point has 516 and you get a grand total of 1,047.

Meaning that, at the halfway mark for 16 teams, baseball today has propelled 716 more home runs at this stage than both leagues had in a full season when Lardner penned his complaint.

And that doesn't include the barrelful hit over the weekend, the statisticians and pitchers still not having come out of the bomb shelters.

The answers are obvious. There is a lot more jackrabbit in the ball, and the throwers, legislated out of such aids as the spitter and the old-time emery ball, are at the batters' mercy. Also that, if Lardner was around today he'd be in a state of complete and total shock—like the rest of us.

Navy's Grivel Best Of Island Snipers

CONNAUGHT RANGES, Ont.—Victoria shooters finished well back in four premier matches at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association championships.

Navy Lieut. George Grivel finished 37th in the Bankers match and 22nd in the Presidents match. Sgt. Ed Zwolak finished 15th in the MacDougall competition, and Capt. H. A. Pankratz, PPCL, was third in the aggregate service matches.

A high school Latin teacher outshot Queen's Medal winner Norm Beckett to win the Bankers match in one of four shoot-offs.

Militia Capt. Cliff James, 29, of Hamilton won the dramatic tie-breaking round with 24 points to Beckett's 23.

Both men, members of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry, fired 49 of a possible 50 points in regulation shooting of the match earlier in the day, fired at 300 and 600 yards.

Perfect shooting conditions and stiff competition were the order of the day. All four events ended in ties.

F. G. (Sandy) Sanderson of Ottawa, who began competitive rifle shooting in April, defeated six crack shots in the President's match shoot-off at 600 yards.

LL Garry Ouellette of Pembroke, Ont., won the shoot-off against seven marksmen in the MacDougall match, fired at 300 yards.

In the final tie-breaking round, Wing Cmdr. J. A. Gordon, 49, of RCAF station, Penhold, Alta., won the Connaught match against five other entries. Each had scored perfect rounds, of 50 in the regulation shooting from 300 yards.

Other Victoria shooters placed as follows: Fran Morse 48th, LS Sandy Peden 57th, WO Smokey Green 70th, E. Ehret 87th, PO Arthur Wood 108th, Major A. M. T. Spittal 120th, CPO Dunc Kennedy 139th, CPO Gordon Fraser 148th, Sgt. Ed Zwolak 224th, Cadet Sgt. Ron Buckler 246th.

In the President's match, Sgt. Mary Robinson, also of Victoria, was 43rd, Sgt. Zwolak was 65th, Morse 68th, Lt. Eileen Learoyd 78th, LS Peden 97th, Ehret 100th, CPO Kennedy 120th, and Cadet Sgt. Buckler 146th.

Sgt. Zwolak, with 98, finished 15th in the MacDougall competition. Morse was 46th, WO Green 61st, Sgt. F. Drysdale 103th, PO Wood 126th, Capt. H. A. Pankratz 156th, and Ehret 161st.

Cleroux Shifts Gaze To Patterson's Crown

MONTREAL (CP)—Bob Cleroux, a Montrealer with a bulling style, Tuesday night won the Canadian heavyweight boxing title and his manager, Al Bachman, proclaimed "a big push" for a shot at Floyd Patterson's world crown.

Cleroux, pitting his drive and roundhouse swings against the more polished attack of defending champ George Chuvalo, stripped the Torontoian of the championship with a 12-round split decision outdoors—the third time the native crown has changed hands between the pair.

It was a bruising battle in 72-degree temperature. Both boys were warned repeatedly for fouls.

Bachman, a New Yorker of 54-52. The third, John Gow, had Chuvalo ahead, 56-54. Referee Nick Nichilo, a going concern all evening, breaking clinches and warning the fighters against illegal tactics, had no vote.

PATTERSON NEXT

"Who else is there after McNeely?" he said, referring to Patterson's scheduled title defence against Tom McNeely in Boston this October.

Someone mentioned Sonny Liston.

"Yeah, but he's cancelled himself out," said Bachman quickly.

(Liston's licence has been suspended in his home state of Pennsylvania after several brushes with the law.)

In Chuvalo's quarters, the outlook concerning Cleroux's future was sharply different. Jack Deacon Allen, Chuvalo's veteran manager, said there is a return bout provision in the contract they signed and it calls for a rematch in Toronto within 90 days.

Bachman, asked if there would be a fourth fight between the two, was blunt.

"Why?" he said. "Cleroux was clearly the winner tonight. Chuvalo has to go out and prove himself if he wants another match with us."

The judges saw it a lot closer than Bachman. Two gave it to the French-speaking Montrealer—Harry Schulman by 56-54 and Rene Outinier by WHAT SAY, MR. FRICK?

Public Just Wants To Know the Truth

CHICAGO (AP)—Popular Mechanics magazine wired baseball commissioner Ford Frick Tuesday for permission to make a laboratory comparison of major league baseballs today and those of the Babe Ruth era.

Apparently considering the possibility of Mickey Mantle or Roger Maris of New York Yankees breaking Ruth's record of 60 homers in 1927, the magazine's publisher, Joseph R. Buell, commented:

"Our purpose is not to prove a point one way or another. If today's baseball is different, we think fans want that information."

"On the other hand, if our test shows no significant difference between the old and the new balls, as manufacturers have stated, then that fact will be made public, too."

Buell said his magazine is searching for official major league balls used in the mid-1920s and urged owners of such balls to contact his magazine.

JUNIOR TENNIS

Vicki Stumbles But John's Away

OTTAWA—Victoria's John Fraser, newly-crowned Canadian junior closed tennis champion, got off on the right foot in the open championships, but Vancouver's Vicki Berner—the closed queen—stumbled.

Fraser teamed up with Claude Savaria of Montreal to easily defeat Michel Labelle and Jacques Grotty of Montreal, 6-0, 6-2, in the boys' doubles event as the Canadian junior hunt got under way in earnest Tuesday.

Big upset of the day was in the junior women's doubles where unseeded Judy Shakespeare and Linda Lee of Halifax defeated the second-seeded Miss Berner and Hedi Rutzbeck of Vancouver, 6-3, 6-4.

Favored Americans swung past Canadian opposition in fairly easy style with Peaches Bartkowicz, a 12-year-old dynamo from Hamtramck, Mich., attracting much of the attention.

The American, her pony-tail style hair flying, swept through three matches in the girls' and junior women's singles competition.

Austrian Charged; Ordered Shooting

FRANKFURT (Reuters)—A former Austrian police colonel has been charged with attempted murder for ordering the shooting of a young RCAF officer during the final weeks of the Second World War, the Frankfurt public prosecutor announced Tuesday.

Ten witnesses will be on hand to testify against 68-year-old Adolf Haan when his trial begins on a date still to be set. He said he is innocent.

The Canadian, 20-year-old Macdonald Moor, whose home town was not given, escaped custody with the help of one of Haan's subordinates.

The announcement said Moor was one of five crew members of an RCAF aircraft who bailed out after their plane was hit during a raid on Graz, Austria, March 4, 1945.

Four of them were shot immediately after landing. Moor was taken prisoner.

PACIFISTS RAISE ROW AS A-SUB HANDED OVER

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The U.S. Navy took possession Tuesday of the Ethan Allen, its most powerful Polaris missile submarine, despite an attempt by pacifists to interfere with the commissioning.

Eight young pacifists were fished out of the Thames River by the navy and coast guard as they swam to board the $110,000,000 submarine.

Navy and coast guard cutters also prevented invasion of the commissioning area by pacifists in seven small boats.

The 410-foot Ethan Allen is the first of a new line of fleet ballistic missile submarines. She will be equipped with the improved A-2 missile with a range of 1,500 miles, 300 miles more than the A-1 Polaris.

Sockeye Restrictions Ordered As Fraser R. Run Falls Short

BELLINGHAM (AP)—The International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission clamped restrictions on both U.S. and Canadian fishermen Tuesday, saying too few sockeye salmon are moving up the Fraser River to spawn.

American fishermen will be limited to 16 hours this week and Canadian fishermen east of the William Head-Angels Point line will not be allowed to fish until Sunday.

The commission said the total escapement during the present extended closure has been only 310,000 sockeye. These fish are destined primarily for the Quesnel and Stuart Lake spawning grounds, which had more than 750,000 spawners in 1957.

Fishing in U.S. convention waters by purse seiners and reef nets will start at 5 a.m. PDT Thursday and close at 9 p.m. Thursday. Fishing by gillnets will be from 7 p.m. Thursday to 9 a.m. Friday.

Fishing by purse seiners and reef nets next week will start at 5 a.m. Tuesday and close at 9 p.m. Wednesday. Fishing by gill nets will be from 7 p.m. Tuesday to 9 a.m. Thursday.

U.K. FLOODS WREAK HAVOC

LONDON (AP)—Flood waters rushed four feet deep through villages in western Scotland Tuesday night after a day of torrential rain.

The automobile association said some country towns and villages in Scotland's Ayr and Renfrew counties were threatened with isolation by floods following a day-long downpour. Villagers were told to prepare for evacuation after flood waters invaded houses and shops.

Farmers were out in darkness leading cattle through knee-deep water to high ground.

'Stop Hoffa' Legislation Taking Shape in Senate

WASHINGTON (CP)—The chief of a three-year Senate investigation into labor racketeering says he is drafting legislation "to stop Jimmy Hoffa and his gang from taking over control of the United States labor movement."

He said his bill, which he now is putting into final shape, will be introduced before the current session of Congress ends. While declining to disclose details, he indicated the effect of his plan would be similar to the operation of anti-trust laws—to prevent Hoffa's Teamsters' Union from seizing control of other transportation unions.

That is his intention—then he will be in a position to call a national transportation strike and paralyze the economy," the Arkansas Democrat said in an interview with The Canadian Press.

McClellan's Senate subcommittee on labor racketeering accused the Teamsters' hierarchy of pilfering the union's welfare funds, associating with hoodlums, making under-the-table deals with employers and imposing dictatorial powers over the union membership.

Teamsters international union is the biggest and most powerful in the United States. It was booted out of the AFL-CIO in 1957 on corruption charges.

The fear of some legislators is that Hoffa may attempt to exploit this internal strife and form a rival labor federation, slicing off part of the AFL-CIO membership.

Tourist Dollars Flowing

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP)—American tourist dollars are flowing into Canada at a rate that could match or even exceed the 1960 record.

The trend is due partly to the higher value of the United States dollar in Canada and thus the end of "that nagging nuisance," as one travel expert put it, of shopping with discounted money.

But even before the Canadian and U.S. dollars traded premium status June 21, there were signs of an increased influx of American tourists in most of Canada, a cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press shows.

Border crossings by U.S. cars have increased in many provinces—they are up 11 per cent in British Columbia, for example. Inquiries about visiting Canada have climbed sharply nearly everywhere.

Will spending rise at the same time? It usually does. Officials here predict confidently that American visitors, who left a record $371,000,000 in Canada last year, will outdo themselves in 1961.

Some Declines

There are some sour notes—notably in the east. Arrivals of American tourists in Nova Scotia have been only so-so and a decline from last year has occurred in Prince Edward Island. The situation is similar in some parts of Quebec.

Generally, however, the survey found hopes for another big year.

At the Rockies resort of Banff in Alberta, the largest privately-owned accommodation setup reported: "This is the biggest summer we've ever had up here." An increase also is noted in Jasper National Park.

"It's been terrific," said Manitoba travel director W. E. Organ of the July tourist traffic there. "From the end of June, it has been away up"—both in U.S. and interprovincial traffic.

Reports are good in Ontario, too. Tourist traffic "is very much up in most parts of the province," said Travel Minister Cathcart. Ontario still is pulling in 62 per cent of all Canada's tourist business.

While some parts of Quebec are seeing fewer tourists, March Hardy, assistant director of the Quebec tourist information bureau, says there is reason to believe there will be an increase in 1961 for the province as a whole.

Resort and agency managers in the Montreal area report a heavy business. But at Quebec City the proprietor of a big resort hotel says he believes the number of U.S. tourists has gone down gradually in each of the last three years.

With American autos up 11 per cent in B.C., a travel bureau official commented: "The weather has been so favorable we don't anticipate a slump... All hotel and campsites in the Kootenays are filled." Festivities between B.C. and the U.S. are busy.

Bound for Alaska

Tourist accommodation around Edmonton is well filled, with many tourists making their way through Alberta to Alaska. Early-season inquiries from tourists about Alberta were up 41 per cent from last year.

U.S. fishermen flocked into northern Saskatchewan fishing resorts in increasing numbers during June and the first week of July. Travel in the southern part of the province is about on a par with last year. Fewer duck hunters are expected this fall because of drought's heavy toll on the duck population.

A Winnipeg official reports "more tourists on the road than ever before" during the first two weeks of July. Most motels in the Winnipeg area are filled every night. One sidelight: tourists who used to stay there about four days are moving on after one or two.

...And the Story Had a Happy Ending

By MICHAEL ROSE

The ominous spectre of a carload of poisoned children Tuesday afternoon changed into a pleasant but somewhat hectic visit to Vancouver Island for a California family of five.

The drama started at 12:15 p.m. when RCMP were advised by Washington State Police that one or more of three visiting grandchildren of a Canby, Ore., dairy farmer may have been dabbling in a deadly agricultural poison called Aldrin.

The story had its happy ending at 7 p.m. when the family left Royal Jubilee Hospital after doctors found the children unharmed.

Today they are enjoying a week's holiday on the island. The family of James C. Thompson, Brawley, Calif., had been the unwitting subjects of an intensive international search.

Mr. Thompson, his wife, Lois, and three children: Anne, 8; Michael, 6, and John, 3, had left his father's farm Monday morning unaware that at least one of the children may have been exposed to the poison during a short visit.

After they had left the farm, Mr. Thompson's father discovered a pail containing a concentrate mixture of Aldrin insect and ground-life poison appeared to have been tampered with.

He feared his grandchildren may have got their hands in the compound, and he contacted local police who notified Washington State troopers in an attempt to cut off the family. The poison can enter the body through the pores.

In the meantime the five had camped at Paulsbo, Wash., close to the B.C. border, oblivious to the hue and cry being raised about them.

EVERYBODY ALERTED
Tuesday morning they moved toward Anacortes on the United States mainland to cross, via ferry, to Sidney, and by this time every local police department in B.C. and Washington was on the alert.

But unknown to everybody involved in the search, the poison, which the children were not certain to have assimilated, had long ago lost its effect.

The children would have become ill within six hours if they had been poisoned.

This was confirmed at the Jubilee's emergency ward and poison control centre where the youngsters were examined.

On arrival in Sidney, the family's yellow car and trailer were spotted by a Victoria College student, Don Wilson, working for the summer with the federal government.

He reported the vehicle to customs men who asked Mr. Thompson to phone the RCMP. After being told to drive toward Victoria, the bearded junior high school principal was escorted by RCMP, Saanich and Victoria police to the hospital.

"Well this is certainly a grand entrance to Canada," said Lois, Thompson, still not aware of the journey's implications.

Nurses at the emergency ward soon took charge and necessary tests were run on the children.

After being pronounced free of any danger the children gathered with their parents outside the ward.

Six-year-old Michael held tightly to his younger brother's hand and stoutly denied touching "anything" at the farm.

The father said a swim taken by the children shortly after leaving the farm may have washed off the poison, if they had touched it.

"We really would like to thank the press, the RCMP and all the other police and people who helped us. We will never forget this trip," said Mrs. Thompson.

"Let us hope we don't get the same welcome next time," grimaced Mr. Thompson. "It could have been much more serious."

IT WAS QUITE A WELCOME!

MONTE ROBERTS

Until very recently, I have taken a detached view of the population explosion which worries Dr. Brock Chisholm and a covey of other expert appraisers of the changing world.

But last weekend I had occasion to venture forth from this, the Fairest City of Them All, on an expedition to the far reaches of the mainland (may it rot in peace).

This expedition took me far, far across that portion of the ocean known as the Straits of Georgia (dire Straits, if I ever saw same), around and about the Valley of the Fraser, and even into the asphalt jungle of Vancouver.

As a result, I heartily agree with Dr. Chisholm and the other experts.

What is wrong with the world today is, there are too many people.

Everywhere you go, there are people. Too many people. Why, in Vancouver—you will find this hard to believe—you can walk several blocks without seeing a single person with whom you have even a nodding acquaintance!

Incredible, but true.

If there were fewer people in the world, the world would be a happier place in which to live.

Please do not misunderstand me.

I do not advocate eliminating the people who are around and about at the present time.

Live and let live, and all that sort of thing.

But let's not overdo it, eh, chaps?

Enough is enough.

There are too many people on the highways, the byways, the beaches, the fields, the streets, the ferries.

Do I have a solution to this problem of too many people?

Yes, I do, although it is not so drastic as solutions suggested by Dr. Chisholm & Co.

Let all the people stay home, where they belong.

Let there be an end to people who live at point A racing madly to point B, while the people who live at point B race madly to point A.

Keep the people off the streets. Keep them at home.

That way, there would be room for me to travel the highways, byways, streets, beaches and fields without being so acutely aware of the fact there are too many people in the world.

Until this happens, I plan to set a noble example: I am going to stay right here, in this, the Fairest City of Them All, until the B.C. Lions win the Grey Cup.

Just call me your stay at home, play at home, sleepy-time pal.

It's Too Late For Critics Of Road Plan

Opponents of an Oak Bay plan to make Cadboro Bay Road a secondary highway are helpless to further their fight following failure of a petition this week.

The fact their petition fell through means the property owners are committed to pay their part of the $300,000 cost—provided the municipality gets $110,000 from the province.

OWNERS UPSET

Some owners of Cadboro Bay Road property are fuming at the prospect of higher taxes.

One two-lot owner complained to the Times his tax will jump about $90 or 25 percent a year for the 20-year life of the local improvement.

"Isn't there anything we can do? I don't want to stand in the way of progress, but this is a pretty big jump," he said.

Oak Bay may initiate the work unless a majority of property owners representing half the assessed value of properties petition against it.

The petition failed through lack of signatures and representation value, and the municipal clerk's certification is final.

Whether provincial aid is forthcoming will not be known until highway commissioners consider it in next year's estimates.

POOR SHAPE

Reeve George Murdoch pointed out the need for the reconstructed road is based on future requirements to handle traffic in Oak Bay, plus the fact that the road now is in poor condition.

"We have found that property values on a street improved by local improvement have gone up $1,000, sometimes more," the Reeve said.

Opposing property owners argue that they have no wish to have a heavier flow of traffic, perhaps speeding, past their doors.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Gunter Bonsdorf, 1907 Oak Bay Avenue, $10 for changing lanes without signalling.

Robert C. Eddy, 2672 Millstream, $40 for careless driving. Licence suspended for four months except for business purposes.

Albert E. Stevens, 2793 Sooke Road, $20 for no driver's licence.

Peter Anthony McCarty, 3141 Carmen, $15 for driving unaccompanied while still the holder of a learner's permit.

Victor G. Skinner, 1830 Newton, $20 for speeding.

34 RAINLESS DAYS

Even dry-land daisies are thirsty as Victoria approaches a new rain-free record—34 days today without measurable precipitation. Joy Pollard does the honors with her sprinkling can, bearing in mind that another dry week will equal the record 41

dusty days in June and July, 1945. A sprinkle of rain last Friday "throws the records out a little," the weather office said, but this trickle wasn't enough to measure. There is no weather change in sight locally. (Times Photo.)

MUNGO DUE BACK AFTER EYE SURGERY

Chief Mungo Martin, who has been recuperating from an eye operation, hopes to return to work at Thunderbird Park next week.

The famous Indian carver had a cataract removed from an eye two months ago.

According to his friends, the operation left him in a weak condition and his recovery has been painful and slow.

FOR LIGHT STANDARDS

Victoria's drab green cluster light standards soon will be brightened up with a pleasant blue hue.

Experiments in choosing the new color began Tuesday when several standards on Cormorant and Pandora, around City Hall, were painted in a light blue color described as close to delft blue.

A darker blue will be used for painting the base of each standard during the 10-day experiment.

The colors are being custom mixed and tried out to achieve the best overall effect.

BRING OUT BEAUTY

The light blue is expected to bring out the beauty of the cast-iron standards better than the dull green and provide a gay contrast with the flower baskets to accentuate their colorful appearance.

The new color combination also will be used on the 30-foot-high steel poles being erected on 16 blocks downtown to replace wooden poles scheduled for removal within the next year.

All cluster light standards will be repainted under a re-

The new color will be finally chosen by street lighting committee after about 10 days of experimenting with various tints to obtain the best hue for appearance and weathering qualities, city planner Roderick Clark said.

Colwood Park Gets $50 More In Fight for Life

A fund to save Colwood Park for future development as a recreational area moved up by $50 today to a $151 total.

Public contributions to the park fund are being received by Mayor Percy Scourah to help out the B.C. Agricultural Association which is struggling to raise $5,000 so it can hang onto its lease of the 140-acre former Colwood Army Camp.

The money is needed to pay this year's $1,000 rental installment, office expenses and salary of the secretary-manager.

14 Ships Take Part In Review

Warships of three closely-allied navies will meet at Esquimalt this month prior to staging a fleet review in connection with the Pacific National Exhibition at Vancouver.

The RCN Pacific Command, its 21 commissioned ships and shore establishments will play host to a Royal Navy anti-submarine frigate from the West Indies Station, five USN minesweepers from Long Beach, and a USN submarine from San Diego.

Seven RCN ships will accompany the visitors across the Strait for a series of "open house" days and a display of illumination and fireworks.

The United States minesweepers are units of Mine-sweeping Division 61. They are USS Conflict, Dynamic, Endurance, Implicit and Persistent. They will arrive at Esquimalt at 10 a.m. Thursday, and will leave for Vancouver, accompanied by the four ships of the RCN Second Canadian Minesweeping Squadron Aug. 15, remaining until Aug. 21.

CALL HERE

The submarine is USS Dido, scheduled to be at Vancouver Aug. 26 to 28 following a call here.

From the RCN Pacific Command, the following ships will visit the exhibition: HMCS Cape Breton (Aug. 18 to 28); HMCS Fraser (Aug. 20 to 28); HMCS Esquimalt (Aug. 22 to 28); HMCS Fortune, James Bay, Miramichi, Comox (Aug. 18 to 21).

Representing the Royal Navy will be HMS Londonderry, a year-old anti-submarine frigate, which will be at Esquimalt Aug. 18 to 21, and at Vancouver Aug. 22 to 28.

Two-Month Term For Woman Who Took Taxi

A woman who drove a taxi from Victoria to Nanaimo while the taxi driver was trying to arrange accommodation for her at a Victoria hotel—received a two-month jail term in city police court today for taking the vehicle without the owner's consent.

At the same time the woman, Elsie M. Smith, 1271 Tattersall, received similar sentence on two charges of fraudulently obtaining things and one of obtaining goods by false pretences.

The sentences—to run concurrently—were handed down by Magistrate William Ostler after he advised the woman she required "custodial care of some kind."

ASK THE TIMES

Q. The name of these Russian rockets, Vostok—how do you pronounce it and what does it mean? T.S.E.

A. Vostok is a Russian adjective meaning east or orient. Pronunciation varies regionally, but generally acceptable pronunciation would be 'vah-STOK, with the accent on the second syllable.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve "conundrums" or "legal questions." Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

City Addict Hid Capsules In Balloon

Kenneth Elzo Jay, 563 Burnside, pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of possessing the drug heroin.

Cpl. R. R. Blackmore, RCMP, told Magistrate William Ostler that Jay had been under surveillance by RCMP and city police for some time.

On Sunday he was checked by police in downtown Victoria and was seen to make a swallowing action, Cpl. Blackmore said.

He was taken to city police station where he "voluntarily emitted" a rubber balloon containing 16 capsules of heroin.

Cpl. Blackmore said Jay is a known addict and takes about three capsules a day.

Magistrate Ostler remanded Jay to Aug. 16 for a probation report and sentence.

City Businessman Dies Suddenly Playing Tennis

Victoria businessman William H. Dunbar, 55, died suddenly playing tennis Tuesday night.

Mr. Dunbar, who was president of Sussex Holdings Ltd., 704 Broughton, was playing at Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club when he apparently suffered a heart attack.

He had many business interests in Victoria and was prominent in financial circles for the last 23 years.

He came to the city in 1928. Surviving are the widow, Joan, at home, 1007 Joan Crescent; a daughter, Joan Dunbar, and mother, Mrs. Margaret Dunbar.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT in the way of tourist licence plates is this black-and-white model that hails from Spain. The M stands for Madrid, where James Harris, visiting in Victoria over the weekend en route to San Francisco, put in four years as an air traffic control expert. On the right is his Spanish wife, Dona Maria Imaculada Torres de Harris, much better known in North America as Mrs. Harris. (Times Photo.)

Victoria tax collections this year show a slight increase over the 1960 payment rate.

By the end of July, 38.10 per cent of the current levy and arrears had been paid over by ratepayers, compared with 37.10 per cent last year. Dollar value of collections so far is $2,088,000.

Victorians so far have issued invitations to 51 sailors aboard a British warship to visit their homes during the weekend of Aug. 19 and 20.

Responding to an appeal by Victoria Chamber of Commerce, 21 families have offered to entertain 51 sailors aboard HMS Londonderry—one of the Royal Navy's most modern anti-submarine frigates—during her four-day visit to Victoria Aug. 18-21.

A 17-year-old youth appeared in juvenile court recently on two charges of taking cars without the owners' consent and one of breaking and entering and theft.

He was sentenced to the Boys' Industrial School.

The cars were reported missing on July 27 and 29 and theft of $200 was reported from Van Isle Photo-finishers, July 27. A total of $44 was recovered.

DEAR ABBY

So What's Your Problem?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I can't mention any names, but I would like your opinion of the following situation: A well-to-do, recently retired man complained that he didn't appreciate sitting home alone five afternoons a week while his wife went out and played cards. She told him she loved playing cards, and refused to give it up. He asked her how much she could win in a good day. She told him about $10. So now he pays her $10 a day for every day she stays home with him.

home with him is in pretty sad shape. But if she is satisfied, and he is happy, why don't we keep our noses out of their business?

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman, 42, and am expecting my tenth child. The trouble is that my eldest is expecting her second child. And Abby, the whole town is talking. They are saying I don't want to get old, and that the only reason I am pregnant is because my daughter is. This is not true. My husband and I love children, and have always wanted a big family. People say that now that we are grandparents we should leave the business of increasing the population to the younger generation. We are able to support our children. What should I tell my jealous friends?

PREGNANT GRANDMA. DEAR GRANDMA: What makes you think you have to tell them anything? A married woman needs no "excuse" for having a baby.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a thick head of hair of which he is very proud. But he refuses to shampoo it more than once every six months. He uses a lot of hair oil, and claims that water will make his hair fall out. We have quarrelled about this frequently, and I can't get anywhere with him. Our pillow cases are stained, and his head smells of rancid oil. Can you help me convince him that he should wash his hair more often?

TIRED OF ARGUING. DEAR TIED: A grown man should know that if he wants to keep his hair, he has to keep it clean. If he is too stubborn to take your word for it, urge him to ask his barber.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TOM: Young men with mathematical minds usually like figures.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

THREE 'F's' IN NEW FUR STYLES

PARIS (UPI) — Madame Jacques Revillon recently displayed fur styles designed to make women "feminine, fine and feline."

Double-fur coats, cosy and warm with "Eskimo" or plaid hoods and the "wildest" look yet were offered by Revillon. There was even a mink jacket worked on the bias to match latest Paris fashion trends.

New campus and winter-sports styles were called "Revillon 20 ans" (Revillon 20 years).

While garments for juniors, made of cosy but modest pelts, ranged in price from $100 up, some of the de luxe coats, combining two furs or made of rare and precious furs, were nearer the $10,000 tag.

Revillon used printed pony-skin for reversible three-quarter lengths jackets lined and bordered by shaggy, uncured Mongolian lamb. The flat pony-fur side was printed in a zebra or a giraffe pattern. They were shown with streamlined black velvet slacks.

speaking on adoption and foster homes in B.C., and a fashion show of hats entitled "Fire Hazards in the Home," by Prince George members, Mrs. A. A. Boucher will preside.

ALBION, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. J. W. Blackburn likes spinning wool, and she loves taking care of sheep that produce it on the farm in this district, 30 miles northwest of Toronto.

Letter Should Inspire You To Lose (Weight, That Is)

Believing that the success of others spurs us on to greater efforts, I print a few letters from Marathon winners each August. What these women have accomplished and the way in which it has affected their lives is truly inspiring.

Most of you know that I offer my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon each January, the idea being to see how much you can improve your appearance in eight weeks, with my direction.

Few of you need to lose as much weight as the winner of the following letter, but I want you to see what can be done when there's a will to do it.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman: I just have to write to tell you how wonderful I think your Marathon is. When I started Marathon I weighed 215 pounds. Now, after eight weeks of diet and exercise, I have lost 22 pounds. I know that I am still a lot overweight but you can't imagine what a difference 22 pounds less makes.

Italian Hamlet Ruled by Women The Men 'Walked Out' Years Ago

SAPUTELLI, Italy (Reuters)—A woman's word is law in Saputelli, a charming hamlet nestled in the foothills of the bleak mountain region in the Abruzzi area of central Italy.

"The head of each household here is a woman. She does all the heavy work on the land. For no men live here permanently. Many years ago, all the menfolk abandoned attempts to scratch a living from the tiny farms belonging to the village.

But fierce pride in their native soil prevented them from leaving it forever. So they found a bitter solution: they decided to go to other towns in Italy, or even abroad, leaving the running of village affairs and the raising of children entirely to their womenfolk.

They keep in touch with their families by visiting them every few years. Some of the younger men are as far away as Venezuela. The older ones prefer to work in Switzerland or Belgium.

While away, they help their wives by sending remittances from abroad.

JUST TWO MEN Saputelli is probably the only matriarchy in Western Europe, a real "republic of women." The population is about 200, and the only male inhabitants are two old men and a few boys.

The women leave their kitchens to yoke up oxen and plow the fields, or gather the harvest. They cut wood in the neighboring woods.

The women have formed their own council which has fought for more amenities for their village with increasing success.

Their first demand, a few years ago, was for a piped water supply to each house. This was granted by the local authorities. This was followed successively by a village school, the installation of a public telephone—the only one in Saputelli—and, recently, a regular bus service linking the village with Cernignano and Teramo.

The women's council now is campaigning for electric light and lower taxation.

'What's Iced Tea without fresh Lemon?'

says Sunny Sunkist

Nothing is more refreshing than the sharp tang of fresh lemon in a tall glass of iced tea. Connoisseurs make the tea double-strength, pour it over ice and serve it with generous wedges of fresh Sunkist Lemon. Try it—see if you don't agree there's nothing nicer under the sun.

Add a little lemon, add a lot to life

Jimmy Durante Offers Hour at 10 on 5 With Bob Hope, Garry Moore

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

THOSE RESPONSIBLE for staging Camera Canada's hour-long documentary covering the story of the Banff School of Fine Arts, Monday night, under the title "Campus in the Clouds" should have removed their heads from the clouds while working on it.

Or at least that seems to be the only summary for the whole "Cloudy."

The start of it all was excellent. The camera roamed willy-nilly from the ballet classes, to painting classes, to sculpting classes, to singing classes and all other classes that make up the curriculum of Canada's noted school high up in the Rocky Mountains.

But once started it seemed as though in control of the lenses couldn't stop. On and on they went, from this class to that class, tarrying scarcely long enough for wistful parents to pick up their offspring who were devoting six weeks of arduous work on behalf of their respective talents.

How much more satisfying it would have been following the opening sequence that was necessary to show the arts that were being instructed, if the cameras and commentators had concentrated first on one class and, when through, on the next and so on. Surely this method would have at least implanted a single image in the viewer's mind of each rather than a hodge-podge that could be remembered only as a hodge-podge.

What is more, I don't think that the most was made out of Senator Donald Cameron who founded the school. I, for one, would have enjoyed hearing a brief summary of its beginnings. I also would have enjoyed seeing still photos of the early days when it all started with the students and instructors living in tents.

I think that the CBC overlooked other interesting facets. For instance why wasn't the "Campus in the Clouds" shown in toto. Where did the students live? What was the daily routine for the school as a whole? What time did they rise? How many hours each day were spent at school and what of other activities such as corn roasts, sing songs, evening concerts and so on?

At best "Campus in the Clouds" was proof positive that Canadian arts are being promoted under wondrous conditions. But it could have been made ever so much more interesting and informative.

Crackdown Urged On Camera Firm

OTTAWA (CP)—The justice department was advised today to seek a court order to prevent Arrow Photographic Equipment Limited of Toronto from controlling retail prices on the cameras and accessories it supplies.

The recommendation is contained in a report to Justice Minister Fulton by the Restrictive Trades Practices Commission.

Mr. Fulton made no comment beyond saying the report will be given the usual consideration. Combines officers contended that Arrow refused to supply Rolleiflex 5x6 to three retailers who advertised or sold the cameras at less than the Toronto firm's suggested retail prices.

The dealers were London Drugs Limited and Baker Drugs Limited, both of Vancouver, and Edmonton Photo Supply Limited.

STORES URGE ACTION

In its report, made public today, the commission said camera specialty shops in Vancouver threatened to stop buying supplies from Arrow if London Drugs continued advertising the cameras at "cut rate" prices.

After similar experience in other Canadian centres, Arrow put the Rolleiflex cameras and accessories under a franchise system of distribution. One aim was to have well-trained dealers with adequate stocks demonstrate and sell the line.

Moon and Back Longer Flight Than Titov's

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russian cosmonaut Gherman Titov travelled a distance nearly equal to that of a round trip to the moon in his 25-hour whirl around the earth but it would have taken him nearly six days to make a non-stop flight around the moon and back.

This is because a number of different factors are involved in getting to the moon. The chief factor is the earth's gravitational pull. This tends to slow a space ship down on a flight as long and high as the 240,000-mile haul to the moon—even though the space ship takes off at about 25,000 miles an hour.

U.S. space scientists told a reporter that for craft ranging in size from several hundred pounds on up, the shortest flight time to the moon would be 60 hours, based on the thrust of the booster rockets for use within the present decade.

The return flight would take just as long and only flying around the moon would consume additional hours.

Titov's space ship was thrust into orbit at a velocity of about 18,000 miles an hour and at a peak altitude of 160 miles from the earth. The capsule maintained that velocity throughout almost all his 17-orbit, 434,960-mile trip.

18,000 MPH CRITICAL RATE
A velocity of about 18,000 miles allows a space vehicle to maintain a balance between the earth's gravitational pull and the centrifugal force that would send the vehicle farther into space.

If anyone were heading for the moon in a five-ton capsule such as Titov's, the space ship would have to be shot into space at nearly 25,000 miles an hour to assure that it wouldn't just go into a high orbit around the earth.

With no fuel for "stepping on the gas"—and only the energy imparted to it by booster rockets—the spacecraft would fight earth's gravity pull all the way to the moon. It would gradually slow down.

Then, at about 20,000 miles from the moon, the moon's gravitational pull would take over and, in effect, pull the space ship down to its surface. If a landing were intended, with proper guidance, however, a circumnavigation of the moon, without landing, could be made.

Two Bush Fires Quickly Doused

Two small fires, one in the Thetis Lake Park area and one on Goldstream Road, were reported in the Langford-Sooke forest area on Tuesday.

Both were quickly suppressed.

Covering half an acre, the Thetis Lake Park blaze was put out by a crew from Victoria's fire department and one from the forest service. The Goldstream Road fire was a minor one.

Hazard remains high throughout the district, and partial closure for industries working in the southern half of the Vancouver forest district remains in effect.

GORGE FOULED WITH DEBRIS FROM GARDENS

Gorge residents who have dumped garden debris into the water were criticized by a neighbor and an alderman Tuesday.

Jack Phillips, of 10 Phillion Place, said floating garbage is spoiling swimming in the Gorge.

"If there is anything more disgraceful than tipping dead dry leaves into the Gorge, I don't know what it is," he said.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, president of the dormant Gorge Waterway Development Association, appealed to residents to stop the practice.

"It seems a pity for anyone to deter the development and beautification of the area."

Zoning Plan Cools Off C. Saanich

A Capital Region Planning Board draft bylaw for the control of subdivisions in the rural municipality of Central Saanich received a cool reception from council Monday.

The bylaw was tabled for discussion at a special meeting to be called later this month or early in September.

Coun. P. F. Warren, acting reeve in the absence of R. Gordon Lee, described the bylaw as infringing on the rights of people.

But the CRPB in its report took a different view.

SAFEGUARDS
Adoption of the proposed subdivision bylaw, the board said "will more than anything else safeguard the municipality from the financial difficulties which follow uncontrolled development of scattered small lot subdivisions."

The CRPB draft designates minimum lot sizes in various parts of the municipality. It also recommends restrictions to protect the specialized agricultural areas of the municipality.

The main aim of the bylaw is to control urban development to certain areas to prevent a rise in the costs of services which normally follow scattered small lot subdivisions.

Douglas St. Beauty Plan Up to Saanich

Saanich council will decide whether or not the long-awaited Douglas Street beautification project is carried out.

Special meeting of the Capital Improvement District Commission Tuesday sent the proposal back to Saanich council for a definite starting date for the required parking ban.

CIDC, a provincial agency, said it is prepared to undertake the $50,000 project of beautifying Douglas from the Roundabout to Saanich Road if Victoria and Saanich agree to ban parking on the street within a year.

JUNE, 1962

Victoria, after a prolonged controversy, went along with the requirement and promised to ban parking effective June 1, 1962, on its section of the project.

But Saanich council only said it would ban parking whenever traffic conditions make it necessary.

PLASTIC ARTS are demonstrated by Seattle expert Roy Schonewill to teachers taking the summer course in art education at Victoria College. Centre, Mr. Schonewill with teachers

Donald McCrae, Marilyn Savage and Frank Bass. Lower left, Gilberte Hostin, and lower right, Jacqueline Nichols. Current course is from July 3 to Aug. 18.

ABILITY ABOUND SAYS EXPERTS

Victoria College 'Ideal' For Faculty of Fine Arts

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

It is time Victoria College had a faculty of fine arts.

That is the opinion of at least four experts now conducting a summer course in art education at the college.

"Victoria has an ideal location for a fine arts faculty," said William West of Oak Bay High School, who is giving a course in drawing.

"There is lots of ability here and the enthusiasm to go with it."

This view was supported by Larry Bakke of Everett College, who teaches painting; Roy Schonewill, plastic and graphic arts teacher from Seattle; and Marcel Asquin from Western Canada High School, Calgary, who is giving a course in the practice of art education.

120 Taking Part

More than 120 teacher students are taking the current seven-week course from July 3 to Aug. 18.

"I am impressed by the seriousness of the students and their anxiety to get all they can out of the classes," said Mr. Schonewill.

"It is significant that there are six classes in this year's summer course whereas we had only three when I last taught here in 1959."

Mr. Asquin from Calgary said he was impressed by the generally high calibre of students here.

"But it is a pity the course should have to be restricted to teachers and those who intend to teach. I am sure many non-professional enthusiasts would enrol if they had the opportunity."

Mr. Bakke said his classes in painting at Everett College are open to anyone who wishes to paint.

More Interested

"More people are interested in art today than ever before," he said, "and instruction should not be limited to persons with outstanding talent. Art education is not a frill, as many suppose; it is a vital part of living."

Mr. Schonewill emphasized that art students who show little talent in the early stages should not be discouraged.

"Many people are slow starters and need time to develop a talent. It is their approach to the work that is important."

Mr. West agreed.

"Time and patience are as important as talent and talent is useless unless it is developed by study and practice."

Mr. Bakke said "learning what to leave out" is one of the vital lessons in painting since the beginner usually crowds his canvas with unnecessary detail.

Public Display

To show what has been accomplished during the current course a public display of painting and drawing with graphic and plastic arts will be presented in the Union Room of the Ewing Building from Thursday next to the following Wednesday.

"We want to give the public an opportunity of seeing what we are trying to accomplish with the present very limited facilities," said A. Wilfrid Johns, who is in charge of the current summer course.

He added that there will be a winter course in art education at the college starting in September. Classes will be held from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. so that teachers can attend after regular school hours.

"We hope to extend this program next year," he said.

FROM ONE GOVERNOR TO ANOTHER

Pearkes First Honorary Kiwanian

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes Tuesday became the first honorary member of Victoria Kiwanis Club in the club's 40-year history.

He was presented with a framed membership certificate by district governor Ed Mailek during the Kiwanians' weekly luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel.

In return, Mr. Pearkes gave the club a history lesson.

He traced the history of crown representative in the province from the time of Sir James Douglas, through the union of Vancouver Island and B.C. in 1866, confederation in 1871, up to the present.

After confederation, he said, all direct communication between the lieutenant-governor and the United Kingdom ceased. It is now directed through the governor-general in Ottawa.

IN NAME OF QUEEN

But there are still certain duties the lieutenant-governor carries out in the name of the Queen and not the governor-general. Opening of the provincial legislature is one.

In the early days, lieutenant-governors were considered to be agents of the federal government, he said. That is no longer the case since direct communication between provincial and federal governments is no problem now.

"But I have to see that there is continual government in the province," Mr. Pearkes said.

ACT AS HOSTS

Lieutenant-governors must also act as hosts to visiting dignitaries.

"During the eight months I the president of Iceland," he have been in office I have entertained the high commissioners for the United Kingdom and India; ambassadors of Russia, Czechoslovakia and Japan; the wife of the president of Mexico and we are shortly expecting a visit from said Mr. Pearkes, smiling.

RUSSIA'S 'KING' BETWEEN TWO ACES

jammed Red Square to hear him tell about his exploit. Khrushchev awarded Titov the title "Hero of the Soviet Union," the same decoration earlier awarded Gagarin. Khrushchev jibed at U.S. space attempts. (AP Wirephoto.)

MEN IN SPACE COSTLY HOBBY SAYS BRITON

LONDON (Reuters)—The United States and Russia are only indulging in an "expensive hobby" by sending men into space, a British science ministry spokesman said today.

Denzil Freeth, parliamentary secretary for science, said in a speech Britain's "space program" was producing far more in the way of scientific knowledge which might be of value.

Freeth said the U.S. and Russia were able to send human beings and animals into space "because the rockets they use are rockets which are basically designed for defence."

"They are sending men and I suppose ladies too in time into space as a by-product and are able to use a lot of defence work for space work."

"This is very expensive in skilled manpower and resources and excessively expensive in money," he said. "This is a most expensive hobby in which to indulge."

The timing of a call for negotiations on Berlin is a delicate matter involving tactical advantages.

JAILBIRDS FLEE BALL GAME

One, Two, Three and They're Out

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two Okalla prisoners escaped from the Capilano Stadium after watching a baseball game Tuesday night.

They were members of a party of 18 prisoners granted permission to attend the game between Vancouver Mounties and Salt Lake City Bees because of good behavior.

A prison official said it was the first escape since outside functions for prisoners were started more than five years ago.

Four guards were with the 18 men but the two escapees managed to slip away from them and mingle with the crowd of more than 3,000.

Vancouver city police and Burnaby RCMP ringed the stadium after the pair were missed but found no trace of them. The search continued today.

The two escapees are Edward George Williams, 21, and Henry John Gonia, 26.

Williams was serving an 18-month term for breaking and entering and theft. He was due to be released in December, 1962.

Gonia was serving 23 months for breaking and entering and was to be released in June, 1963.

PAPER LANTERNS FLOAT REQUIEM FOR NAGASAKI

NAGASAKI, Japan (AP)—Hundreds of small candle-lit paper lanterns for the dead were cast adrift on Nagasaki Bay tonight, marking the 16th anniversary of the atomic bombing of Nagasaki.

Earlier, sirens and bells sounded throughout the city as hundreds of thousands joined in a minute of silent prayer at 11:02 a.m., the time the bomb was dropped Aug. 9, 1945.

A peace declaration was read by Mayor Tsutomu Tagawa during observances sponsored by the city and various religious organizations. A hundred white pigeons were released.

The declaration, which will be sent to the 99 nations of the United Nations, told of the suffering undergone by Nagasaki in the last 16 years and called for the outlawing of all nuclear weapons.

Bank Reverses $25,000 Pension

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of Canada board of directors has suspended a pension-rule provision under which a governor would receive a $25,000-a-year pension on retirement.

The suspension was made after former governor James E. Coyne resigned and before the appointment of Louis Rasminsky as his successor.

The rule was suspended by the board with the knowledge of the government, Mr. Fleming said.

The board now will have to consider what new rule should apply to the governor's pension, he added.

One of the government's criticisms of Mr. Coyne was that he did not veto a board decision in February, 1961, to raise the governor's retirement pension to $25,000 a year from about $12,000.

Suspension of the rule in the bank's retirement bylaws means that the governor's pension rate reverts to that in effect prior to February, 1960—or $12,000 a year.

Mr. Fleming told reporters after a cabinet meeting he did not know whether Mr. Coyne has applied for the pension at the $25,000 rate or whether he currently was drawing any money from the bank.

Mr. Coyne's claim to the higher pension rate will be a matter of legal interpretation, Mr. Fleming added.

"That will have to be worked out," he said.

A reporter recalled that the bank's directors, when they raised the pension rate to $25,000, said the new would protect the integrity of the governor's position, whoever held the office.

"That was an interesting theory," Mr. Fleming said.

"I am informed that steps were taken so that there would be no application of that rule to any future governor, and provisions for the future is something for future consideration."

The government learned about it, the higher pension, only this spring, and received the word with shock and consternation.

"The board's action in suspending the rule is in-keeping with my view that its former action was an improper course."

Suspension of the rule, Mr. Fleming said, meant that Mr. Rasminsky acquired "no right whatsoever" to the higher pension rate when he took office. The rule was suspended with Mr. Rasminsky's knowledge before he took the job.

The two escapees are Edward George Williams, 21, and Henry John Gonia, 26.

Williams was serving an 18-month term for breaking and entering and theft. He was due to be released in December, 1962.

Gonia was serving 23 months for breaking and entering and was to be released in June, 1963.

BCE TAKEOVER

Dealers Fanning Protest

By TOM GOULD
(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA—Investment dealers across Canada are advising clients who hold B.C. Electric stock to write Premier Bennett to protest the terms of his takeover of the huge utility.

A more formal protest is expected to be made by the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

Eastern investors were shocked at the terms of the takeover. Dealers say they are being flooded with calls from worried BCE and B.C. Power Corporation shareholders.

Some advocated legal action to win a better deal for the shareholders but the terms of the takeover legislation prohibit such legal action unless a fiat can be obtained from the B.C. attorney-general's office.

There has been favorable reaction in Toronto and Montreal financial circles to a letter circulated by the Investment Dealers' Association describing the takeover terms as "arbitrary, unfair, and inconsistent with the Canadian tradition of equity and legal recourse."

Deane Nesbitt, president of Nesbitt Thompson Co., joint underwriters with Wood, Gundy and Co. for B.C. Electric and B.C. Power Corp. (the parent firm) said there is no doubt of the province's right to take over the power utility.

"GROSSLY UNFAIR" But, he said, "we believe the terms are grossly unfair to the shareholders, and that the procedure is completely at odds with the practice of earlier takeovers."

Mr. Nesbitt said the provincial government should treat shareholders fairly, and permit them the right to appeal the province's terms.

Investors have already lost millions of dollars on B.C. Electric holdings, as a result of the drop in market values of preferred shares.

Premier Bennett intends exchanging fixed interest rate debentures for the preferred shares. This means holders of the preferred shares will lose a federal tax credit of 20 per cent on dividend payments.

DEPRIVED

Peter Scott, chairman of Wood, Gundy, said the government "may have intended to make an equitable exchange of fixed interest debentures for preferred shares, but in practice, they have deprived preferred shareholders of a tax credit for which they paid on the purchase of the shares."

Most of the concern in the financial world is for the holders of preferred shares. "There is always a risk with common stock, and the man who buys

Lands Safely In Cuba

NEW YORK (UPI)—A huge Pan-American DC-8 jet airliner with 81 persons aboard was hijacked in the skies over Mexico today and forced to fly to Havana, Cuba, where it landed safely, the airline reported.

The DC-8 with 72 passengers and nine crew members aboard put down safely at the Havana Airport at 3:25 p.m. EDT (12:25 p.m., PDT).

The airline said everyone aboard was safe.

In Washington the White House said President Kennedy had asked for fullest information on the hijacking.

The White House said its preliminary information was that one man had forced the Pan-Am pilot to divert his craft to Cuba shortly after taking off from Mexico City en route to Guatemala City.

FROM TEXAS

The plane had originated in Houston, Texas, and had flown to Mexico City this morning.

At 12:37 p.m. EDT, it took off again and within minutes the hijacker apparently seized control of the aircraft.

The pilot, Capt. Carl Ballard, radioed in code that the craft had been "diverted" to Cuba.

Two hours and 48 minutes later the DC-8 jet put down on the 10,900-foot runway in Fidel Castro's capital.

Among passengers aboard the hijacked airliner were Colombian Foreign Minister Julio Cesar Turbay and Roger Wolin, Pan American public relations director for Latin America. The nine-member crew also included four stewardesses.

In Washington, the United States Air Force high command was placed on the alert.

The hijacking followed by only six days the seizure of a Continental Airlines Boeing 707 jet on the ground at El Paso, Tex., by ex-convict Leon Bearden and his son, Cody.

Border patrol and FBI men overpowered the gunman after they had helped the crew and four hostages for more than nine hours.

Fraser Advances Into Semifinals

OTTAWA (CP)—Victoria's John Fraser moved into the semifinals of the Canadian junior men's singles tennis championship today by posting two easy victories. He defeated New Yorker Claude Shoenlank, 5-2, 6-0, after earlier defeating Jean Lavenderie of Montreal, 6-1, 6-1. (See earlier story page 11.)

Showers Won't Help

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Showers forecast for today were expected to have little effect on forest fires that have ravaged northeastern Newfoundland for two months.

Sellout by Weekend Sure For BCE's Parity Bonds

Premier Bennett's $100,000,000 B.C. Electric parity bond issue went on sale across Canada today and is expected to be sold out before the weekend.

Several Vancouver investment houses reported that they went "over the top" in their allocations before actual sale started and Victoria houses indicated their allocations were being snapped up.

Victoria managers of investment houses reported a very good response to the bond issue, although slightly slower than in Vancouver and eastern Canada—where the province's last and biggest parity bond issue went on sale for the first time.

"We have a few bonds left, but not many and I don't think they'll last long," said a Wood Gundy and Co. representative here.

"I'm sure we won't have any left by the weekend," said a Dominion Securities Corporation spokesman.

"The local response has been reasonably good," said a Victoria official of A. E. Ames and Co. Ltd.

Bonds that are not picked up quickly here probably will be transferred to the Vancouver branches of the big investment firms where allocations already have been overbid.

Extremely strong demand also has been reported in Eastern Canada.

Meanwhile, Ottawa income tax authorities added lustre to the picture by reportedly indicating that the province probably will be able to gain a $44,000,000 nest egg originally reserved by the company for future income tax payments.

That's the amount believed tucked away by the company as a reserve against the day that present tax write-off concessions would have run out.

If the company had remained in private hands, the income tax payments would have become due in the future—perhaps as long as 10 or even 25 years hence.

But the province is exempt from income tax so it probably will be able to pocket the reserve fund now that it has taken over the utility.

In another development involving the new Crown company, chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum said a Monday meeting of the directors had discussed re-employing the engineering consultants who plotted the Peace River hydro-electric scheme for BCE when it was a private company.

"We are thinking of using them (International Power and Engineering Consultants Ltd.) because they have already done some of the work," he said.

MONTE ROBERTS

Until very recently, I have taken a detached view of the population explosion which worries Dr. Brock Chisholm and a covey of other expert appraisers of the changing world.

But last weekend I had occasion to venture forth from this, the Fairest City of Them All, on an expedition to the far reaches of the mainland (may it rot in peace).

This expedition took me far, far across that portion of the ocean known as the Straits of Georgia (dire Straits, if I ever saw same), around and about the Valley of the Fraser, and even into the asphalt jungle of Vancouver.

As a result, I heartily agree with Dr. Chisholm and the other experts.

What is wrong with the world today is, there are too many people.

Everywhere you go, there are people. Too many people. Why, in Vancouver—you will find this hard to believe—you can walk several blocks without seeing a single person with whom you have even a nodding acquaintance!

Incredible, but true.

If there were fewer people in the world, the world would be a happier place in which to live.

Please do not misunderstand me.

I do not advocate eliminating the people who are around and about at the present time.

Live and let live, and all that sort of thing. But let's not overdo it, eh, chaps?

Enough is enough.

There are too many people on the highways, the byways, the beaches, the fields, the streets, the ferries.

Do I have a solution to this problem of too many people? Yes, I do, although it is not so drastic as solutions suggested by Dr. Chisholm & Co.

Let all the people stay home, where they belong.

Let there be an end to people who live at point A racing madly to point B, while the people who live at point B race madly to point A.

Keep the people off the streets. Keep them at home.

That way, there would be room for me to travel the highways, byways, streets, beaches and fields without being so acutely aware of the fact there are too many people in the world.

Until this happens, I plan to set a noble example: I am going to stay right here, in this, the Fairest City of Them All, until the B.C. Lions win the Grey Cup.

Just call me your stay at home, play at home, sleepy-time pal.

At 6 p.m. on Tuesday, a citizen reported a smashed door glass at 1775 Pandora, premises of Woodward's Appliances.

Police attended and found a 5 1/2 h.p. motor, valued at $289, was missing.

The P & O-Orient liner passed the Dallas Road water-front at 12.25 p.m. today, inward bound for Vancouver after picking up pilot, immigration, and customs officials.

The big ship was delayed slightly by fog in Juan de Fuca Strait.

Victoria tax collections this year show a slight increase over the 1960 payment rate.

By the end of July, 38.10 per cent of the current levy and arrears had been paid over by ratepayers, compared with 37.10 per cent last year. Dollar value of collections so far is $2,088,000.

Shooting pigeons out of Christ Church Cathedral rafters was the best alternative to starvation, a churchman said in response to critics of Sunday's police action.

Police were requested to dispatch two birds after the morning service, which was later protested by the SFCA.

In the past, said Dean Brian Whitlow, pigeons had become caught in the cathedral, unable to find their way out and injured themselves by flying into the walls trying to escape.

"The choice has to be made between a quick and painless death by shooting and a slow and painful death by starvation," Dean Whitlow said.

Brent David Ewing, 3120 Service Street, and Wayne George Farmer, 2820 Beach, each were fined $10 in Sooke RCMP court Tuesday for causing an obstruction through parking.

Police said the men left their cars on the road to Sooke Potholes on Sunday.

A sentence of three months imprisonment was imposed on Richard Allen Parker, 1971 Oak Bay Avenue, in Saanich police court Tuesday for indecent assault on an 11-year-old girl.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Aug. 1 and was remanded for character witnesses and probation report.

The assault took place July 24 at 9.30 p.m. on Knight Avenue.

Victorians so far have issued invitations to 51 sailors aboard a British warship to visit their homes during the weekend of Aug. 19 and 20.

Responding to an appeal by Victoria Chamber of Commerce, 21 families have offered to entertain 51 sailors aboard HMS Londonderry—one of the Royal Navy's most modern anti-submarine frigates—during her four-day visit to Victoria Aug. 18-21.

The Dominion Astrophysical Observatory has rearranged its telephone inquiry facilities in preparation for the opening of its new 48-inch telescope and extension of the geophysical division next fall.

During the day, astronomical inquiries should be made to GR 9-3232 and inquiries concerning earthquake and magnetic results to GR 9-6212. All night calls should be to GR 9-6212.

Joseph Bednarz, Gull Road, was fined $30 in Saanich police court Tuesday for carrying out plumbing installation without a permit or licence.

He was convicted and fined $15 after the prosecution charged he had installed plumbing at 4942 Cordova Bay Road without a permit and a further $15 for doing work of that kind without holding a proper licence.

Ronald Charles Barry, 47 Howe, was restricted to driving for business purposes only for two months Tuesday in city police court.

One week before he had been fined $60 for careless driving and was remanded for consideration of suspension.

Harvey Moran, 723 Market, was sentenced to three months in jail Tuesday when he appeared in city police court on a charge of unlawful possession of stolen property.

Moran was charged with having a transistor radio in his possession which was stolen from Meadwell's Electric, 2651 Douglas, June 7.

A 17-year-old youth appeared in juvenile court recently on two charges of taking cars without the owners' consent and one of breaking and entering and theft.

He was sentenced to the Boys' Industrial School.

The cars were reported missing on July 27 and 29 and theft of $200 was reported from Van Isle Photo finishers, July 27. A total of $44 was recovered.

... And the Story Had a Happy Ending

By MICHAEL ROSE

The ominous spectre of a carload of poisoned children Tuesday afternoon changed into a pleasant but somewhat hectic visit to Vancouver Island for a California family of five.

The drama started at 12.15 p.m. when RCMP were advised by Washington State Police that one or more of three visiting grandchildren of a Canby, Ore., dairy farmer may have been dabbling in a deadly agricultural poison called Aldrin.

The story had its happy ending at 7 p.m. when the family left Royal Jubilee Hospital after doctors found the children unharmed.

Today they are enjoying a week's holiday on the Island. The family of James C. Thompson, Brawley, Calif., had been the unwitting subjects of an intensive international search.

Mr. Thompson, his wife, Lois, and three children: Anne, 8; Michael, 6, and John, 3, had left his father's farm Monday morning unaware that at least one of the children may have been exposed to the poison during a short visit.

TAMPERED WITH

After they had left the farm, Mr. Thompson's father discovered a pill containing a concentrate mixture of Aldrin insect and ground-life poison appeared to have been tampered with.

He feared his grandchildren may have got their hands in the compound, and he contacted local police who notified Washington State troopers in an attempt to cut off the family. The poison can enter the body through the pores.

In the meantime the five had camped at Paulsbo, Wash., close to the B.C. border, oblivious to the hue and cry being raised about them.

EVERYBODY ALERTED

Tuesday morning they moved toward Anacortes on the United States mainland to cross, via ferry, to Sidney, and by this time every local police department in B.C. and Washington was on the alert.

But unknown to everybody involved in the search, the poison, which the children were not certain to have assimilated, had long ago lost its effect.

The children would have become ill within six hours if they had been poisoned.

This was confirmed at the Jubilee's emergency ward and poison control centre where the youngsters were examined.

On arrival in Sidney, the family's yellow car and trailer were spotted by a Victoria College student, Don Wilson, working for the summer with the federal government.

He reported the vehicle to customs men who asked Mr. Thompson to phone the RCMP. After being told to drive toward Victoria, the bearded junior high school principal was escorted by RCMP, Saanich and Victoria police to the hospital.

"Well this is certainly a grand entrance to Canada," said Lois Thompson, still not aware of the journey's implications.

Nurses at the emergency ward soon took charge and necessary tests were run on the children.

After being pronounced free of any danger the children gathered with their parents outside the ward.

Six-year-old Michael held tightly to his younger brother's hand and stoutly denied touching "anything" at the farm.

The father said a swim taken by the children shortly after leaving the farm may have washed off the poison, if they had touched it.

"We really would like to thank the press, the RCMP and all the other police and people who helped us. We will never forget this trip," said Mrs. Thompson.

"Let us hope we don't get the same welcome next time," grimaced Mr. Thompson. "It could have been much more serious."

Two-Month Term For Woman Who Took Taxi

A woman who drove a taxi from Victoria to Nanaimo while the taxi driver was trying to arrange accommodation for her at a Victoria hotel—received a two-month jail term in city police court today for taking the vehicle without the owner's consent.

At the same time the woman, Elsie M. Smith, 1271 Tattersall, received similar sentence on two charges of fraudulently obtaining lodgings and one of obtaining goods by false pretences.

The sentences—to run concurrently—were handed down by Magistrate William Ostler after he advised the woman she required "custodial care of some kind."

ASK THE TIMES

Q. The name of these Russian rockets, Vostok—how do you pronounce it and what does it mean? T.S.E.

A. Vostok is a Russian adjective meaning east or orient. Pronunciation varies regionally, but generally acceptable pronunciation would be vah-STOK, with the accent on the second syllable.

34 RAINLESS DAYS

Even dry-land daisies are thirsty as Victoria approaches a new rain-free record—34 days today without measurable precipitation. Joy Pollard does the honors with her sprinkling can, bearing in mind that another dry week will equal the record 41

dusty days in June and July, 1945. A sprinkle of rain last Friday "throws the records out a little," the weather office said, but this trickle wasn't enough to measure. There is no weather change in sight locally. (Times Photo.)

MUNGO DUE BACK AFTER EYE SURGERY

Chief Mungo Martin, who has been recuperating from an eye operation, hopes to return to work at Thunderbird Park next week.

The famous Indian carver had a cataract removed from an eye two months ago.

According to his friends, the operation left him in a weakened condition and his recovery has been painful and slow.

City Addict Hid Capsules In Balloon

Kenneth Elzo Jay, 563 Bainside, pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of possessing the drug heroin.

Cpl. R. R. Blackmore, RCMP, told Magistrate William Ostler that Jay had been under surveillance by RCMP and city police for some time.

On Sunday he was checked by police in downtown Victoria and was seen to make a swallowing action, Cpl. Blackmore said.

He was taken to city police station where he "voluntarily emitted" a rubber balloon containing 16 capsules of heroin.

Cpl. Blackmore said Jay is a known addict and takes about three capsules a day.

Magistrate Ostler remanded Jay to Aug. 16 for a probation report and sentence.

City Businessman Dies Suddenly Playing Tennis

Victoria businessman William H. Dunbar, 55, died suddenly playing tennis Tuesday night.

Mr. Dunbar, who was president of Sussex Holdings Ltd., 704 Broughton, was playing at Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club when he apparently suffered a heart attack.

He had many business interests in Victoria and was prominent in financial circles for the last 23 years.

Surviving are the widow, Joan, at home, 1007 Joan Crescent; a daughter, Jean Dunbar, and mother, Mrs. Margaret Dunbar.

FOR LIGHT STANDARDS

New Blue Hue In, Gloomy Green Out

Victoria's drab green cluster light standards soon will be brightened up with a pleasant blue hue.

Experiments in choosing the new color began Tuesday when several standards on Cormorant and Pandora, around City Hall, were painted in a light blue color described as close to drift blue.

A darker blue will be used for painting the base of each standard during the 10-day experiment.

The colors are being custom mixed and tried out to achieve the best overall effect.

Colwood Park Gets $50 More In Life Fight

A fund to save Colwood Park for future development as a recreational area moved up by $50 today to a $151 total.

Public contributions to the park fund are being received by Mayor Percy Scurrell to help out the B.C. Agricultural Association which is struggling to raise $5,000 so it can hang onto its lease of the 140-acre former Colwood Army Camp.

The money is needed to pay this year's $1,999 rental installment, office expenses and salary of the secretary-manager.

BRING OUT BEAUTY

The light blue is expected to bring out the beauty of the cast iron standards better than the dull green and provide a gay contrast with the flower baskets to accentuate their colorful appearance.

The new color combination will be used on the 30-foot, high steel poles being erected on 16 blocks downtown to replace wooden poles scheduled for removal within the next year.

All cluster light standards will be repainted under a rehabilitation program approved earlier by city council.

The new color will be finally chosen by street lighting committee after about 10 days of experimenting with various tints to obtain the best hue for appearance and weathering qualities, city planner Roderick Clark said.

Bomb to Equal 100 Million Tons TNT

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev boasted tonight that Soviet scientists have proposed building a bomb with a yield equal to 100 million tons of TNT.

Khrushchev told a glittering Kremlin reception in honor of spaceman Maj. Gherman Titov that the scientists assured him such a giant bomb could be launched successfully.

BCE TAKEOVER TERMS 'UNFAIR'

'Tell Bennett' Dealers Urge

By TOM GOULD
(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA—Investment dealers across Canada are advising clients who hold B.C. Electric stock to write Premier Bennett to protest the terms of his takeover of the huge utility.

A more formal protest is expected to be made by the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

Eastern investors were shocked at the terms of the takeover. Dealers say they are being flooded with calls from worried B.C. and B.C. Power Corporation shareholders.

Some advocated legal action to win a better deal for the shareholders but the terms of the takeover legislation prohibit such legal action unless a fiat can be obtained from the B.C. attorney-general's office.

There has been favorable reaction in Toronto and Montreal financial circles to a letter circulated by the Investment Dealers' Association describing the takeover terms as "arbitrary, unfair, and inconsistent with the Canadian tradition of equity and legal recourse."

Deane Nesbitt, president of Nesbitt Thompson Co., joint underwriter with Wood Gundy and Co. for B.C. Electric and B.C. Power Corp. (the parent firm) said there is no doubt of the province's right to take over the power utility.

"GROSSLY UNFAIR" But, he said, "we believe the terms are grossly unfair to the shareholders, and that the procedure is completely at odds with the practice of earlier takeovers."

Mr. Nesbitt said the provincial government should treat shareholders fairly, and permit them the right to appeal the province's terms.

Investors have already lost millions of dollars on B.C. Electric holdings, as a result of the drop in market values of preferred shares.

Premier Bennett intends exchanging fixed interest rate debentures for the preferred shares. This means holders of the preferred shares will lose a federal tax credit of 20 per cent on dividend payments.

DEPRIVED Peter Scott, chairman of Wood Gundy, said the government "may have intended to make an equitable exchange of fixed interest debentures for preferred shares, but in fact, they have deprived preferred shareholders of a tax credit for which they paid on the purchase of the shares."

Most of the concern in the financial world is for the holders of preferred shares. "There is always a risk with common stock, and the man who buys

AMERICAN JETLINER HIJACKED TO CUBA

81 On Board Land in Havana

HAVANA (UPI) — A $6,000,000 Pan-American jet airliner was hijacked in the skies over Mexico today and flown to Cuba where the pilot put the plane down at Havana Airport with all 81 persons aboard unharmed.

The huge DC-8 was commandeered — reportedly by a lone man — shortly after taking off from Mexico City on a flight to Guatemala, Costa Rica and Panama.

It landed on the 10,600-foot Havana Airport runway at 3:25 p.m. EDT (12:35 P.D.T.). The airline said all 72 passengers and nine crew members were safe.

A Pan-American spokesman in New York said it had a message from its airport manager that "there would be a delay."

The airline had no explanation of the cryptic message but it left the implication Fidel Castro's Cuban government might be preparing to release the plane.

Pan-American has been flying in and out of Havana in other planes regularly on a twice-a-day basis.

In Washington, the state department asked the Swiss embassy to transmit an urgent message to the Cuban government in regard to the hijacked airliner.

President Kennedy issued orders that he be kept fully informed of all developments.

Assistant press secretary Andrew Hatcher said the White House had received reports that the huge plane was hijacked by one man.

There was no immediate additional report about his identity or the means by which he seized the aircraft.

The DC-8 flight 501 originated in Houston this morning and flew to Mexico City. It took off shortly after noon and within minutes the hijacker apparently seized control of the aircraft.

The pilot, Capt. Carl Ballard, radioed in code that the craft had been diverted to Cuba.

Two hours and 48 minutes later the DC-8 jet put down on the 10,600-foot runway in Fidel Castro's capital.

Among passengers aboard the hijacked airliner were Colombian Foreign Minister Julio Cesar Turbay and Roger Wolin, Pan American public relations director for Latin America. The nine-member crew also included four stewaresses.

In Washington, the United States Air Force high command was placed on the alert.

The hijacking followed by only six days the seizure of a Continental Airlines Boeing 707 jet on the ground at El Paso, Tex., by ex-convict Leon Bearden and his son, Cody.

Border patrol and FBI men overpowered the gunmen after they had held the crew and four hostages for more than nine hours.

RUSSIA'S 'KING' BETWEEN TWO ACES

Red Square to hear him tell about his exploit. Khrushchev awarded Titov the title "Hero of the Soviet Union," the same decoration earlier awarded Gagarin. Khrushchev jibed at U.S. space attempts. (AP Wirephoto.)

KISSES ALL AROUND FOR TITOV

(Times News Services) MOSCOW — Soviet spaceman Gherman Titov returned to Moscow today for a hero's welcome, kissed his well-wishers right and left and warned that if the "enemies of peace" tried to do anything to the Soviet Union, he would be ready to crush the aggressor.

Standing atop the Lenin Stalin Tomb, the 26-year-old cosmonaut told the applauding multitude jamming Red Square that his space flight was dedicated to peaceful purposes and "we use our mighty rocket technique for the sake of progress."

But he added:

"We have all the means necessary to rebuff an imperialist attack, and I as a military pilot am ready to fulfill any task given me by the Communist party and the government."

Reviewing his flight, Titov said that his space ship, although completely automatically controlled, could be guided by manual controls to a landing on any spot on the globe.

LEADS APPLAUSE

Premier Khrushchev, standing in the spaceman's elbow, led the applause after each of Titov's sentences.

The Soviet premier, following the new Soviet hero to the microphone, said it was symbolic of the greatness of the Communist party that for the second time Moscow was greeting a Russian newly returned from space.

"The first Soviet cosmonaut, Major Yuri Gagarin, stood nearby and shared in the plaudits."

Speaking extemporaneously, waving his arms and shouting, the premier declared:

"We were the first to build socialism, we were the first in space and we will be the first to build communism."

"The most sober-minded leaders of the West cannot help understanding that socialism is the launching pad from which these flights began."

In another development involving the new Crown company, chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum said a Monday meeting of the directors had discussed re-employing the engineering consultants who plotted the Peace River hydro-electric scheme for BCE when it was a private company.

"We are thinking of using them (International Power and Engineering Consultants Ltd.) because they have already done some of the work," he said.

PAPER LANTERNS FLOAT REQUIEM FOR NAGASAKI

NAGASAKI, Japan (AP) — Hundreds of small candle-lit paper lanterns for the dead were cast into Nagasaki Bay tonight, marking the 16th anniversary of the atomic bombing of Nagasaki.

Earlier, sirens and bells sounded throughout the city as hundreds of thousands joined in a minute of silent prayer at 11:02 a.m., the time the bomb was dropped Aug. 9, 1945.

A peace declaration was read by Mayor Tsutomu Tagawa during observances sponsored by the city and various religious organizations. A hundred white pigeons were released.

IN CALIFORNIA SPEECH

Premier Pitches Power, Markets

SAN FRANCISCO (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett said today British Columbia offers California's industries a vast new source of hydro power and an expanding market for consumer goods.

"We can offer power to help fire the spectacular industrial growth of California," the premier told guests at the opening of B.C.'s new trade and travel information office here. "We also offer new consumer markets as fields of expansion for many of your manufacturing enterprises."

"In turn, California offers the fastest-growing markets in North America for the sale of B.C. products," the premier said. "Your state also has many industries which might well be able to utilize the capacities of related B.C. industries for the manufacture of component parts."

RCMP IN FULL DRESS

The Premier was accompanied by seven members of the provincial cabinet and an escort of RCMP in full dress. More than 250 B.C. and California government and industry leaders were guests at the ceremony.

Governor Edmund G. Brown of California said the office would encourage increasing interchange of visitors between California and B.C.

Sellout by Weekend Sure For BCE's Parity Bonds

Premier Bennett's $100,000,000 B.C. Electric parity bond issue went on sale across Canada today and is expected to be sold out before the weekend.

Several Vancouver investment houses reported that they went "over the top" in their allocations before actual sale started and Victoria houses indicated their allocations were being snapped up.

Victoria managers of investment houses reported "a very good" response to the bond issue, although slightly slower than in Vancouver and eastern Canada — where the province's last and biggest parity bond issue went on sale for the first time.

"We have a few bonds left but not many and I don't think they'll last long," said a Wood

Gundy and Co. representative here.

"I'm sure we won't have any left by the weekend," said a Dominion Securities Corporation spokesman.

"The local response has been reasonably good," said a Victoria official of A. E. Ames and Co. Ltd.

Bonds that are not picked up quickly here probably will be transferred to the Vancouver branches of the big investment firms where allocations already have been oversold.

Extremely strong demand also has been reported in Eastern Canada.

Meanwhile, Ottawa income tax authorities added lustre to the picture by reportedly indicating that the province probably will be able to gain a $44,000,000 nest egg originally reserved by the company for future income tax payments.

That's the amount believed tucked away by the company as a reserve against the day that a present tax write-off concessions would have run out.

If the company had remained in private hands, the income tax payments would have become due in the future — perhaps as long as 10 or even 25 years hence.

But the province is exempt from income tax so it probably will be able to pocket the reserve fund now that it has taken over the utility.

In another development involving the new Crown company, chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum said a Monday meeting of the directors had discussed re-employing the engineering consultants who plotted the Peace River hydro-electric scheme for BCE when it was a private company.

"We are thinking of using them (International Power and Engineering Consultants Ltd.) because they have already done some of the work," he said.

It's all right I say. "I took th' plane t' Cuba." But y' aren't s'posed t' take it WITH y'.

Th' BCE preferred shareholders w'd hev preferred t' remain jist thet.

Now they've shot th' pigeons in th' Cathedral, wonder if somebody'll draw a bead on th' flyin' buttresses?
